

Strike Grips Algiers

Labor Unions Protesting Peace Pact

ALGIERS (P) — A general strike by European workers demonstrating their resistance to Algerian independence shut down practically all activity in Algiers today.

Railroad service, plane traffic and city transportation halted. Water, gas and electric supplies were cut. Garages and filling stations refused to sell gasoline. Shops closed at noon when the order for the strike was issued. No time limit was set on the walkout.

Employees at the air terminal grounded traffic by demanding that passengers produce passes from the European Secret Army Organization, which is fighting to keep Algeria French.

Labor unions gave the strike order in protest against the arrest Wednesday night of the secretary general of the Railway Union Federation. But the movement appeared to be part of the secret army campaign to paralyze economic activity.

Business conditions were just beginning to return to normal after a one-day general strike Monday protesting the cease-fire between the French army and the Algerian nationalists, which went into effect that day.

A secret army broadcast in Oran called for a two-hour strike there tonight also.

The strike movement developed as the French army and police appeared to be putting up firm opposition to the European extremists seeking to wreck the cease-fire.

The secret army gave an ultimatum to government forces to clear out of Bab el Oued, a workers quarter in Algiers where trouble is frequent, by noon or be considered as occupation troops. But the government forces stayed put.

Searchers Find Bodies of Four In Wreckage

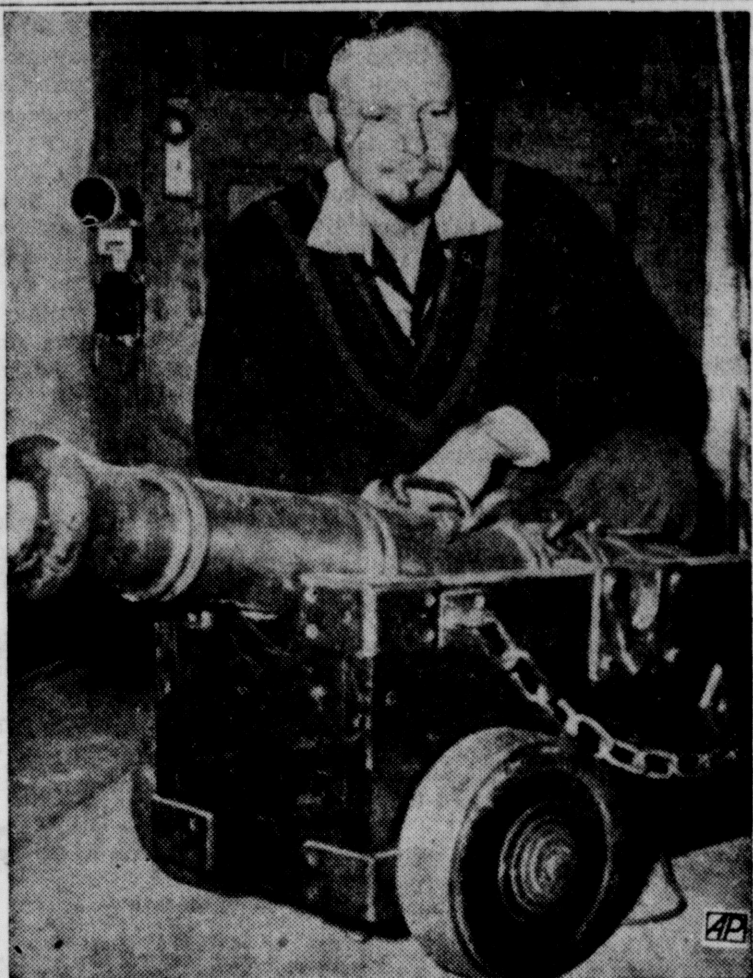

BIG CEDAR, Okla. (AP) — Searchers recovered the bodies of four Houston, Tex., businessmen Wednesday from wreckage of a plane that crashed in mountains near the Arkansas border Tuesday.

The victims were W.R. Parker Sr., 68, chairman of the board of Parker Brothers, Inc., Houston; his brother, Briscoe K. Parker Sr., 60, president; Jack D. Parker, 31, son of W.R. Parker and vice president and secretary, and Glen Draper, 41, the pilot and a son-in-law of W.R. Parker.

The Parker firm sells asphalt, cement, sand and gravel.

The plane tore a 175-yard path through trees on Walnut Mountain a half-mile from the state line.

The plane had left Fort Smith, Ark., Tuesday, en route to Houston. A clock in the cockpit was stopped at 11:39. Thunderstorms swept over this area at about that time.

'Elaborate System'

Soviet Shelter Plans Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union claims to be planning an elaborate system of civil defense shelters plus the mass distribution of gas masks and special protective clothing.

These claims, which contrast sharply with Russian charges that the U.S. civil defense program reflects war-mongering, were revealed today in a 406-page translation of an official Soviet document.

Called "Medical and Civil Defense in Total War," the volume was placed on sale by the Commerce Department's Office of Technical Services. It was originally published in 1959 by the Byelorussian Ministry of Health, and was written by L. F. Suprun and F. P. Zverev.

The book, based on lectures given at a medical institute in Minsk in 1955-58, gives no hint of how much progress has been made in carrying out the various plans.

In discussing steps to be taken in the event of an attack alert, the authors state that every citizen "must have his own gas mask, a cape made of white, close-knit material, individual first aid kits, and protective stockings and gloves."

No mention is made of whether these items have been distributed. The text makes clear elsewhere that the articles of clothing are of special design and material.

The book gives almost as much attention to germ and gas warfare as to the hazards of nuclear attack.

The volume is heavily laced with political propaganda and starts out with an attack on "the aggressive ruling circles of certain capitalist states."

There are references throughout the book to standby plans for the populace to take shelter in an attack and one statement refers to plans "to expand the network of existing shelters."

Communist propagandists have been particularly critical of the Kennedy administration's promotion of fallout shelters. According to the Soviet document, the civil defense program of the U.S.S.R. embraces not only the protection of the population and the economy during and after an attack, but also the interception and destruction of enemy bombers and missiles.

While boasting of Soviet defenses, they say that "even with the most effective anti-aircraft defense, the possibility of penetration of single planes or pilotless missiles into rear areas must not be excluded."

Despite the frequent emphasis on modern devices, the authors indicate that in at least some sections of the Soviet Union the attack warning system is primitive.

Minuteman Contractor Opens Office

Housing Shortage Facing Personnel Upon Arrival

The first phase of the actual construction of the Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile complex to be built in this area is about to get underway with the establishment of an operations office by Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc. of South Gate, Calif.

The Morrison-Knudsen firm with three associates, Paul Hardeman Company, Stanton, Calif., Perini Corporation, Framingham, Mass., and C. H. Leavell and Company, El Paso, Tex., were the low bidders last week at the Army Engineers bids opening in Kansas City. Their bid totaled $60,664,500.

Offices for the firm were opened this morning at the Husmann and Roper-Schlenk Truck Lines building at 416 West Main. Heading the office is Bill McMurren, project manager for the construction firm.

The office was humming with activity this morning as engineers and supervisory personnel began setting up their headquarters.

A spokesman for the firm indicated the bulk of construction personnel would arrive when the federal government gives the go ahead on the project. The Army Engineers said work must begin 10 days after the contractor gets notice to proceed and the contract calls for completion in 18 months.

The spokesman declined to give any information on the number of personnel of the firm to be involved.

Indications are the construction will get underway during the next 10 to 15 days, the spokesman said. The firm's personnel already in Sedalia are finding housing an acute problem.

Sam Boyle, president-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said housing listings at his office are nearly exhausted. The chamber is currently advertising for the listing of more property.

The Morrison-Knudsen spokesman indicated some of their employees might secure mobile home facilities in light of the housing difficulty.

Morrison-Knudsen and associates will be responsible for the steel and mortar phase of 150 launching and control sites that will be northward from Eldorado Springs to Boonville. Whiteman AFB near here will be located near the hub of the arc. Total cost of the Minuteman project is expected to exceed $175 million.

Flight Engineers Agree to Return

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Members of the Flight Engineers Union have agreed to report to their jobs at Trans World Airline Friday providing their officers begin immediate negotiations to settle a dispute over training of pilots as engineers.

The decision was reached Wednesday night at a meeting of a rank and file committee which had previously announced a work stoppage for 4 a.m. Friday.

Louis Mansolillo, chairman of the union's San Francisco chapter, said negotiators and chapter officers had recommended against the walkout.

Flight engineers had originally called a formal strike for Wednesday morning against TWA. But creation by President Kennedy Tuesday of an emergency board to probe the dispute blocked this.

Joe Rauti, owner of the Colonade Room, came over and said there was a call for her from a man connected with a television show.

"Please, honey," she said, "I just don't feel like talking tonight."

Rauti shrugged and walked off. "She's a good girl," he later told a reporter, "but she's had a bad time. Did you know she has three kids? Oldest one's a girl of 20. Talks about them all the time."

Some nights, when the television set in the cocktail lounge is turned on, Connie DeToth can see Veronica Lake in an old movie. There were three of them telecast locally this week—"Star Spangled Rhythm," "Blue Dahlia" and "Sullivan's Travels."

The attractive waitress watched the glamor girl on the screen for a while.

Then she turned away and said: "I don't believe anybody was ever that young."

One Right Next Door

Shelter Problem Close to Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, who is urging a nationwide fallout shelter program, has a shelter problem right next door.

The basement of the Executive Office building, on the west side of the White House, isn't considered safe for a shelter in a nuclear emergency.

The old, gingerbread building once housed the State, War and Navy departments. Many of Kennedy's top aides are among the 1,200 federal employees who now work there.

George Viault, the building warden, says the big vaulted cellar might be fine for a shelter except for one thing—it's a maze of hot and cold water pipes. If a lot of people were huddled down there and the pipes burst, there could be a disaster.

So civil defense experts have done the best they can and marked off shelter areas on upper floors. These are in inner corridors, where the brick walls are thick and the doors strong.

As in the case with many federal buildings, private citizens would be welcome to seek shelter there in emergency. Viault figures he could take care of quite a few people.

"We could bed them down, after a fashion," he says. "With the cafeterias we could feed them after a fashion, if conditions were such that we could get food free from radioactivity and if we could cook it."

"War experience has shown that people can survive a good deal of rugged living."

Private citizens dashing in for shelter might find themselves rubbing elbow with a lot of important officials.

Among occupants of the building are Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, top military adviser to the President; McGeorge Bundy, assistant to the President on national security affairs; the Council of Economic Advisers; the National Space Council and a small branch of the Secret Service.

Rusk, Gromyko Effort Fails

GENEVA (P)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko conferred for two hours today and reportedly failed again to break any of the deadlocks which have paralyzed Berlin, disarmament and nuclear test ban negotiations.

Rusk told newsmen in response to questions about any change in the situation: "No, I don't see any change."

At the Palace of Nations the 17-nation disarmament conference met in late afternoon at the insistence of several small nations, with a lead from Britain. They displayed frustration at U.S.-Soviet failure to get disarmament negotiations organized.

A new attempt by representatives of the Big Three to find a basis for negotiations on a nuclear test ban broke down. The Americans and the Russians blamed each other.

The three nuclear powers will report their difficulties to the full 17-nation disarmament conference Friday.

Inside the conference itself other basic disagreements on general disarmament were reflected in an American-Russian argument over procedure.

Until U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko agree on a detailed work program the conference will have to limp along without getting down to cases.

Frustrated small nations protested against the stalemate and served notice they intend to take a hand in trying to break the deadlock.

However, the deadlock deepened because the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union failed completely to find any basis on which they could agree to negotiate for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty. There was a two-hour and 40-minute meeting of delegations of the three atomic powers this afternoon to discuss a test ban.

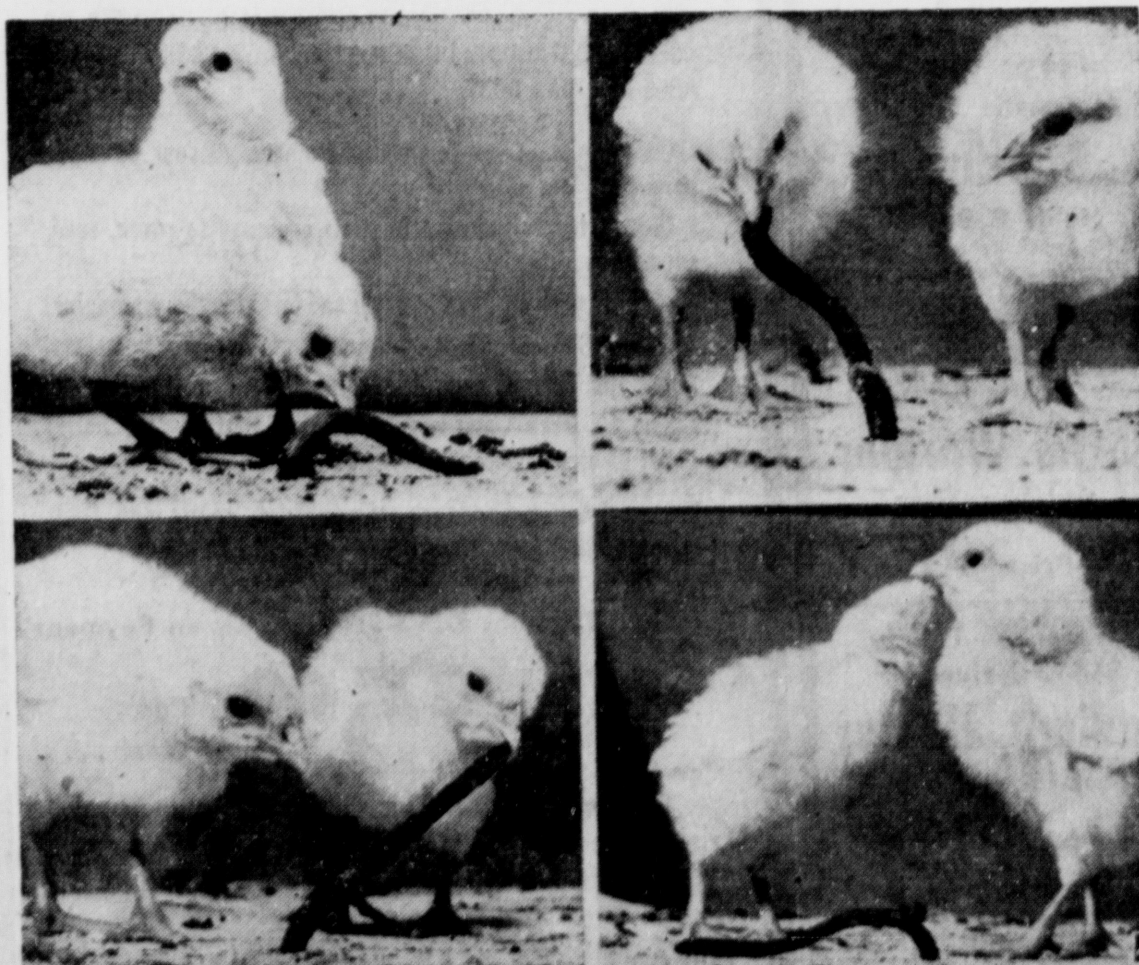

Viet Nam Aid Gets Results

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says United States aid to Communist-threatened South Viet Nam has put the Southeast Asian nation on the offensive in the guerrilla war.

Sec'y McNamara arrived here Wednesday night from Pearl Harbor, where he held his fourth strategy session in as many months on South Viet Nam. He will join President Kennedy in Berkeley Friday for a University of California Charter Day ceremony.

In a statement before leaving Hawaii, McNamara said, "There is every sign that the government and people of South Viet Nam have the will and the capacity, with our support, to win."

Fronzizi Struggle Continues

Peronists Threaten Violence If He Stays In Office

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (P)—President Arturo Frondizi struggled today to put together a coalition government to deal with a nationwide strike threatened by supporters of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron.

The nation's military officers were divided over whether Frondizi should remain in office. Peronists threatened violence.

Fronzizi found little immediate support from the politicians to help him combat rising Peronist opposition. Leading anti-Peron politicians harshly rejected his first attempts to bring them into a "coalition Cabinet of national unity" imposed on him by the military.

Leaders of 62 pro-Peron labor unions called a general strike of nearly two million workers for Friday and warned that the nationwide walkout would continue until Frondizi rescinded his decree wiping out the Peronist victories in parliamentary and provincial elections last Sunday.

Officials of the Roman Catholic Church reportedly were trying to pacify labor leaders and have them call off the strike. The last major strike here, stemming from one of Frondizi's austerity measures, resulted in bombings of buses and street fighting.

Thirty-two unions said they would not strike but made clear their sentiments, asserting "the reason for our troubles is Frondizi." The powerful General Confederation of Labor, mother organization of all the unions, did not immediately endorse the walkout.

The underground "Supreme Council of the Peronista party" issued a manifesto urging working people to resist Frondizi's nullification order. "We will resort to violence if necessary," the council declared.

Despite the setbacks, Frondizi was reported feeling assured that a solution to the four-day crisis was near. Buenos Aires Mayor Hernan Giral, Frondizi's emissary in negotiations with the military chiefs, announced after a series of conferences at government house that his mission was over.

Protocol officers assured newsmen that Frondizi would be on hand this evening to welcome Britain's visiting Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

Fronzizi's insistence on sticking to his unpopular austerity program, which was generally blamed for his election setback, appeared a major obstacle to his forming a coalition Cabinet.

Bobbys Trip Cost Taxpayers Around $15,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's recent 28-day trip around the world cost about $15,000 and the State Department is paying the bill, a department spokesman says.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said Wednesday the bill is for the expenses of Kennedy, his wife, an aide from the Justice Department and another from the State Department plus a second Justice Department assistant who joined the party late in the tour.

The State Department paid for the world tour because Kennedy was on official business and was traveling at the request of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, officials said.

Veronica Lake

Film Beauty Works for Tips

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember Veronica Lake, the "peek-a-boo look" girl of the 1940s?

Today she waits on tables and serves as a part-time hostess in the cocktail lounge of a Manhattan hotel.

Once one of Hollywood's most glittering stars, she appeared in dozens of films. Her face and figure were featured in scores of magazines and newspapers.

Two decades and three husbands later she lives at the Martha Washington Hotel for women and works for tips and her meals at the Colonade Room downstairs.

Miss Lake now goes by the name of Connie DeToth. Connie is her real first name. DeToth is the name of her second husband, film director Andrew DeToth. She was divorced about two years ago from her third husband, music publisher Joseph A. McCarthy.

She looks older now, of course, and her long blond hair—once combed so that it fell over her right eye—is swept back. She is still an attractive woman.

Miss Lake—or Connie—moved into the hotel about five months ago after living for a time with friends. Most of the tenants are unmarried career women or students or widows.

The former actress, who was awarded $65 a week temporary alimony when she divorced McCarthy, pays $7 a day for her room. She began working at the lounge downstairs about three months ago because, she said, "I like people. I like to talk to them."

Connie wasn't working Wednesday night. An old ankle injury has been bothering her recently, and she came into the cocktail lounge on crutches, sat down in a booth and propped up her left foot on the seat.

From time to time, somebody would come over and sit down with the former star.

A man sat down and asked her if she'd be interested in a part in a play. Connie changed the subject.

Later, she said, "Everybody wants to manage me. I can't stand being managed."

She said she doesn't need the money. She talked of taking a part "sometime" or maybe investing in a business.

Joe Rauti, owner of the Colonade Room, came over and said there was a call for her from a man connected with a television show.

"Please, honey," she said, "I just don't feel like talking tonight."

Rauti shrugged and walked off. "She's a good girl," he later told a reporter, "but she's had a bad time. Did you know she has three kids? Oldest one's a girl of 20. Talks about them all the time."

Phillips Backs Out On Tour For Russians

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Phillips Petroleum Co., which had agreed to host 10 Soviet Union gas experts in a tour of its natural gas facilities in Texas Panhandle, announced Wednesday it has withdrawn from the project.

A Phillips spokesman said the company had agreed to take part in the tour, part of the State Department's program of exchanging scientific and cultural groups with the Russians.

The company's statement said: "However, in response to many objections from the people of Amarillo, Phillips has advised the State Department that it has withdrawn completely from the proposed tour."

H. A. Eddins, president of Oklahoma Natural Gas Co., said the Soviet group was still scheduled to visit his company's facilities at Tulsa, but he could not say if the Phillips decision would affect the trip.

Eddins was one of eight American gas industry leaders to tour Russia last summer.

The Soviet group is to arrive in New York April 1. The Tulsa tour is scheduled for mid-April.

Municipal Hog Island Is Put Up for Bidders

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Four firms submitted bids ranging from $42,000 to $75,000 Wednesday on the purchase of a 240-acre, city-owned island that was once used as a Municipal Hog Farm.

The island, which lies at the confluence of the Mississippi and Meramec rivers, is known properly as Chesley Island. However, it is generally referred to by its more earthy name, "Hog Island." It once functioned as a combination hog farm and garbage disposal project.

Movie Costs Of Jackie's Trip Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a $1,000-a-week director and a $72,000 budget, the U.S. Information Agency is producing color movies of Mrs. John F. Kennedy's journey through India and Pakistan. USIA Director Edward R. Murrow disclosed this Wednesday after Rep. Elford A. Cederberg, R-Mich., asked about the production.

Cederberg is a member of the House Appropriations subcommittee which handles USIA spending. The Michigan Republican said he thinks the First Lady's tour is "being adequately covered" by newsmen and photographers.

Even if the USIA must make the films itself, he said, "I believe the salaries being paid for cameramen and directors to make this documentary film are exorbitant."

Murrow wrote the congressman the movies are being made under a $45,807.50 contract with Hearst Metrotone News, Inc. He said that covers a two-reel film of the visit to India, and a one-reel documentary on the Pakistan tour.

In addition, he said, an estimated $27,000 in U.S.-owned foreign currency will be spent for transportation and equipment secured in India and Pakistan.

"After the film is produced, there will be substantial additional costs for release prints and language versions," the Murrow letter said.

Murrow said the contract provides $1,000 a week for the director, $1,050 weekly for a cameraman accompanying the director, and $425 a week for a second cameraman traveling on the press plane.

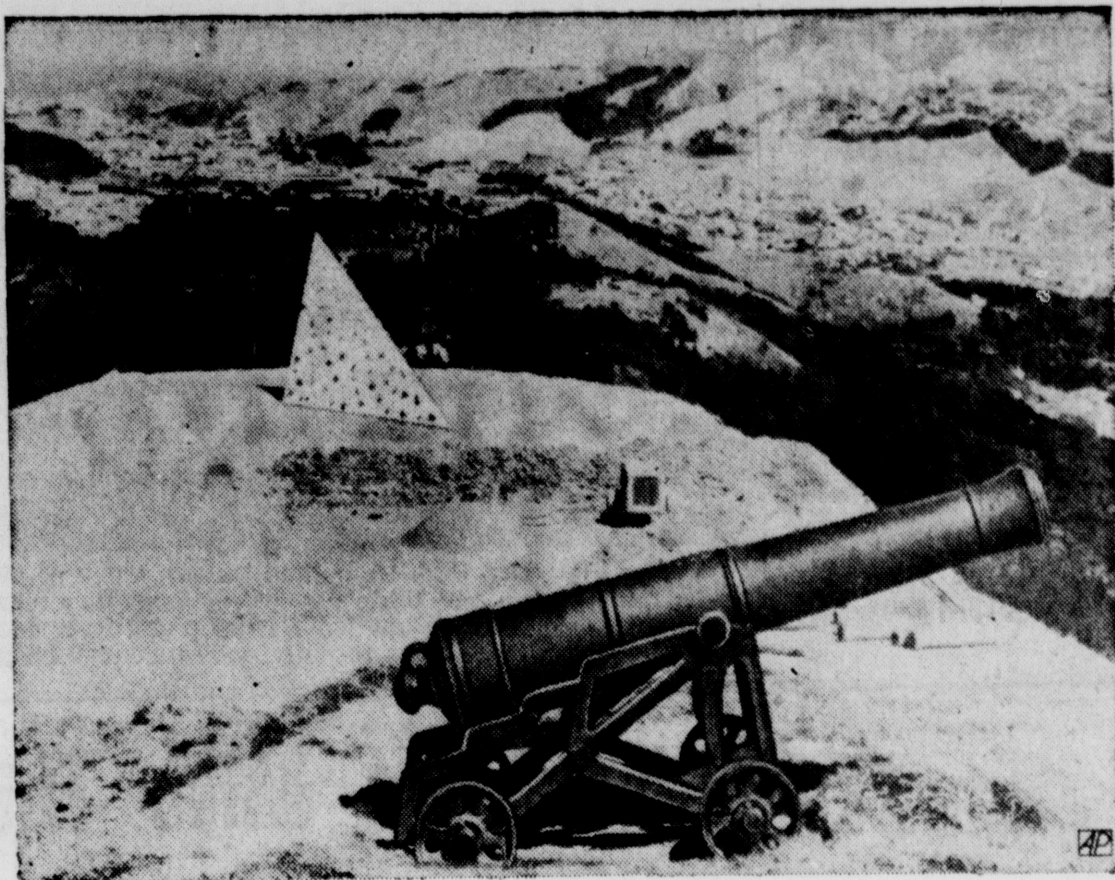

When the President travels abroad, the information agency usually contracts with a White House cameraman to make movies for about $425 a week. The films are made into documentaries for overseas distribution by USIA.

Future Nurses Meet

The Smith-Cotton Future Nurses Club met Wednesday for its regular meeting at which Miss Mary Smasal, nurse at the Missouri Pacific Shops, was the speaker. Miss Smasal gave an interesting talk on the subject: "Industrial Nursing."

The girls planned their annual out of town trip and decided to try to visit the University of Missouri Medical Center.

The next meeting will be March 24, at Smith-Cotton High School.

Beeney's Are Separated By Officers

ERIE, Kan. (AP) — The law had the Beeney's all split up today, despite their protests that God told them to stay close together.

Kenneth L. Beeney Sr., 59-year-old handyman, still was in jail and the prospects he'll stay there until he agrees to let his two younger daughters, Verla, 13, and Letha Faye, 6, return to school.

Verla and Letha Faye were declared truant children and sent to the Kansas Children's Home at Atchison.

Mrs. Beeney was charged with causing and encouraging truancy. Judge John F. Young decreed this disposition of the Beeney family after a hearing in juvenile court Wednesday. Mrs. Beeney, the four other children and their grandmother stomped and chanted:

"Stop them, O Lord, stop them!"

Beeney took his youngsters out of school last week after two other daughters, Judy, 19, and Patricia, 16, said they received a warning from God that he was about to destroy Erie. They were to pack their belongings and themselves into their two cars, stay together, and wait for a man who would show them where to go.

Beeney was jailed a week ago

Man Illegally Took $3,000 In Welfare Checks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Walter McDaniels, 47, a tire service man who was earning about $100 a week while drawing $65 a month in welfare benefits as an unemployed semi invalid, was charged Wednesday with stealing by deceit.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Quentin Gansloser said McDaniels secured more than $3,000 from the state Division of Welfare by claiming he was unable to work because of an epileptic condition.

Gansloser said McDaniels was unable to work at one time, but that he continued to accept welfare benefits after he returned to work.

J. P. Lynes, director of the welfare division's St. Louis office, said McDaniels was placed on the welfare rolls in July 1957 after a physician certified that he was unable to work.

today for keeping Verla and Letha Faye out of school. The other members of the family parked the cars at the jail and have been living in them.

The girls didn't say if God gave them any reason for destroying Erie, a town of 1,296 in southeast Kansas.

Not a Tax Check, Just Appreciation

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP) — The First Presbyterian church here has made a $100 donation to the city of Menominee.

The Rev. J. Robert Rank, church moderator, told City Council. "Although we strongly hold to the basic idea that churches should be exempt from taxes on property used for religious purposes, we feel that we want to make a voluntary donation to the city in appreciation for its services."

Plane Missing With 10 Aboard

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A Navy plane with 10 men aboard was missing today after developing engine trouble on a flight to California. The plane was attached to a naval air reserve training unit.

The P2V Lockheed Neptune patrol bomber was last seen disappearing into a heavy overcast about 23 miles southwest of 9,671-foot Mt. St. Helens.

The mountain is in southwestern Washington, about 55 miles northeast of Portland, Ore. Other mountains in the vicinity are from 4,000 to 6,000 feet high.

Cloudy weather prevented aerial search Wednesday night.

The 13th Naval District Public Information office said the plane was returning to its home base

Cold Death Instantly For Worker

CAHOKIA, Ill. (AP) — John Thomas Fernandez, 27, was frozen to death almost instantly Wednesday when a relief valve popped open suddenly, splashing him with a quick-evaporating liquid ammonia solution.

Fernandez, an electrician and 12-year employee of the St. Louis Shipbuilding Co., was dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis.

Two employees of the Caruthersville Towing Co., Curtis Wilkenson, 35, of Ft. Smith, Ark., and Frank Stegbauer of St. Louis, were working with Fernandez feeding the liquid ammonia from a barge into a Monsanto Chemical Co. line, when the accident occurred.

Stegbauer said the relief valve popped off suddenly sending the solution spurting into the air. Stegbauer and Wilkenson ran in one direction and Fernandez the other. Wilkenson was slightly splattered with the solution, but officials at St. Mary's hospital described his condition as fair.

Fernandez, the father of two children, was a resident of Mehlville in suburban St. Louis.

Authorities said the liquid ammonia, which changes to a gaseous vapor immediately on being exposed to the atmosphere, is kept under pressure at a temperature of 28-degrees below zero to preserve its liquid state.

Names of the men aboard were withheld.

Elevator Falls Shaking Up Eight Persons

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight persons — including singers Steve Lawrence and his wife, Eydie Gorme — were shaken up Wednesday night when a hotel elevator skidded 10 floors to the basement.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. A startling innovation is the sheer front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girdle itself is of "wonder" Lycra spandex fiber. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the designer-genius, Olga.

Be "Suddenly Slim" today in either girdle or panty version. Call Chapman's, TA 6-2711 now.

Mrs. Lawrence is expecting a child.

Also in the elevator at the Hotel Fourteen were William B. Williams, 38, a disc jockey on radio station WNEW and his wife; Mrs. Buddy Hackett, 26, of Palisades, N.J., wife of the television comedian; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rael and Edna Kallgren, all of Manhattan.

All refused medical treatment except Miss Kallgren, who had X rays taken at a hospital and then returned to her home.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I've only been married a few weeks. Pete and I get along fairly well with the exception of one thing which bothers me terribly. He has a hot temper which gets out of control when he is behind the wheel of a car.

If another driver does something to annoy him, such as pulling away from a light first, or passing him too closely, Pete will yell some ugly profanity out the window. Sometimes the other driver doesn't like this and they have a running argument right on the street. Once a driver accidentally bumped him in the rear and Pete got out of his car and wanted to fight him.

This is embarrassing to me and I've begged him to cool off. I'm afraid one day he'll tangle with the wrong guy and get his head knocked off. What can I do?

—IRISH EYES

Dear Irish: Courtesy behind the wheel of a car can spell the difference between life and death. Drivers who vent their hostilities on other drivers often wind up in a hospital — or worse yet, in a morgue. And sometimes they take a carload of innocent people with them.

Tell Pete to work out his anger on a golf course, on a tennis court, in a bowling alley or in a swimming pool. A mad motorist, like a mad dog, is a threat to society.

Numbers Go Out of Vogue In TV Titles

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—This season's successes, "Dr. Kildare" and "Ben Casey," apparently have kicked off more than a television trend for medical adventure series. They have returned to high favor programs named after their central character.

In recent years — ever since ABC's "77 Sunset Strip" had its initial, spectacular popularity — the numbers and address titles have been very much in vogue. We have "Surfside 6," "Cain's Hundred," "Route 66," "Car 54, Where are you?" "87th Precinct," and "Twentieth Century." We used to have "The Roaring 20s," and "Number Please."

But now it is changing. Among the shows scheduled for next fall are "Adam Fable," "Vive Judson McKay," "Our Man Higgins," "Dr. Z," and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." Proof positive of the recent switch that changed a fall show "333 Montgomery Street," into "Sam Benedict."

"Sam Benedict," incidentally, is a story built around the real exploits of a San Francisco attorney, Jake Erlich, and will be shown into NBC's Saturday night line-up, 7:30-8:30.

CBS will be moving "Perry Mason" to Thursday nights come autumn to make room for Jackie Gleason's new series. But with the NBC show coming into Perry's old time period, lovers of courtroom dramas can stick to their established Saturday night viewing habits with only the extra effort of switching back to CBS for "The Defenders."

This week's "Dick Powell Show," with William Bendix playing a heavy, quite obviously was one program that the producers hoped could be blown into a future series. Even before it was reeled to the home audience it had been an unsuccessful candidate for a Saturday night spot in NBC's fall lineup.

It wasn't much of a show — just another of those oft-told adventure yarns purportedly based on official files, in this case those of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and the umpteenth television story out of the Hollywood mills about truck drivers and the illegal "pep pill" trade.

Aspiring Astronauts Hope Courage Will Get Results

ELGIN, ILL. (AP)—Two boys, 9 years old, who told the head of America's space agency they "did something brave" so they could become astronauts, have disclosed their training technique.

"I laid at the bottom of a hill on the other side of a pile of snow," Tom Wicklein said Wednesday night, "and my friend, Matt Fischer, went across me on his sled."

"That took a lot of courage," the two boys said in a letter which found its way to the desk of James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington.

NASA officials said that among the thousands of letters received since the orbital flight of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. Feb. 20, none has expressed greater determination.

The two Elgin fourth graders wrote Webb: "We will both take any training that is to be done."

Doubts Castro Threats Toward US Naval Base

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, arrived Wednesday night for a two-day inspection tour and said any Cuban invasion of Guantanamo naval base "would be very foolish."

Anderson said the United States "is in Cuba (at Guantanamo) by means of a treaty and we intend to stay there."

The admiral said he doubted that Fidel Castro would carry through any threats against the base. He said the Cubans have enough trouble trying to make their economy work.

BREADWINNING—Annual median income of American families (before taxes) climbed sharply from $4,000 in 1947 to $5,300 in 1960—a 40 per cent increase. Median means that half of all families earn up to $5,300 and half earn more than this amount. Total number of families rose from 37 million to 45 million during the 13-year period covered in chart. Data from National Industrial Conference Board.

INCOME UPTREND—Chart above shows the number of American families in different income ranges. It reveals that from 1947 to 1960, while those earning less than $5,000 annually declined from 65 per cent of all families, those in the $5,000 to $10,000 bracket rose from 29 to 44 per cent. Families with $10,000 or more increased from 6 to 14 per cent. Data: National Industrial Conference Board.

Troubled By High Waters

By The Associated Press
Rain and snow fell in many sections in the West and in a few spots in the eastern half of the nation today. Dry weather prevailed in most of the Midwest where rising rivers have caused some flooding.

The rain belt in the West covered the central and northern Pacific Coast areas, with showers and snow flurries in the northern Plateau and Rocky Mountain regions. Two inches of snow was reported in Burns, Ore. Snow flurries continued in the northern Plains and southern Rockies.

Rain and drizzle dampened areas in the upper Ohio Valley and eastward into the north and middle Atlantic Coast states and in central sections of Tennessee.

Tributaries of the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri rivers spilled over their banks in parts of Missouri and Illinois. More than a score of families left their homes in the Libertyville, Ill., area north of Chicago as the Des Plaines River overflowed.

Two bridges across the swollen Illinois River in Peoria held firm against the battering of several barges which broke loose from their mooring Tuesday. River workers captured and moored seven of the 24 barges, mostly grain carriers of 40,000 bushel capacity. Authorities estimated damage to the bridges, two of five which link Peoria and East Peoria, at $200,000.

Below freezing temperatures this morning were confined to northern areas in New England, the Great Lakes region and Mississippi Valley and in parts of Montana southward into eastern Utah and western Colorado.

Witnesses Reveal String Of Gripes at TV Hearing

CHICAGO (AP)—The ideal television programming, a string of witnesses at a FCC hearing indicate, might be 24 hours a day of Marcel Marceau, the French pantomimist.

He does not speak, so he could not possibly say Jap and offend the Japanese.

His face is too white to be mistaken for a real white man, a Negro, a Polynesian or a Chinese.

His costume, tights and a hat with a single flower, in no way resembles the $250 custom-tailored suits and pearl gray fedoras worn by gangsters with Italian names.

A close examination of his performance discloses no symbolism that might be construed as for or against Christians, Jews, Moslems, atheists or agnostics.

The little flower on the hat may have to go. The people promoting "say it with candy" may want equal time.

appeared in force before a Federal Communications Commission examiner in the U.S. Courthouse and told mostly what's wrong with locally produced Chicago television programs. A few had some nice things to say, but their time saying it was far from equal.

The television people will have their turn in April.

The proceeding, unprecedented in FCC annals, recalled a classic remark by the late Franklin P. Adams, newspaper columnist and radio panelist.

"You tell a joke about a man-eating shark," Adams said, "and the sharkskin suit manufacturers association wants your scalp."

Some of the points raised by witnesses included:

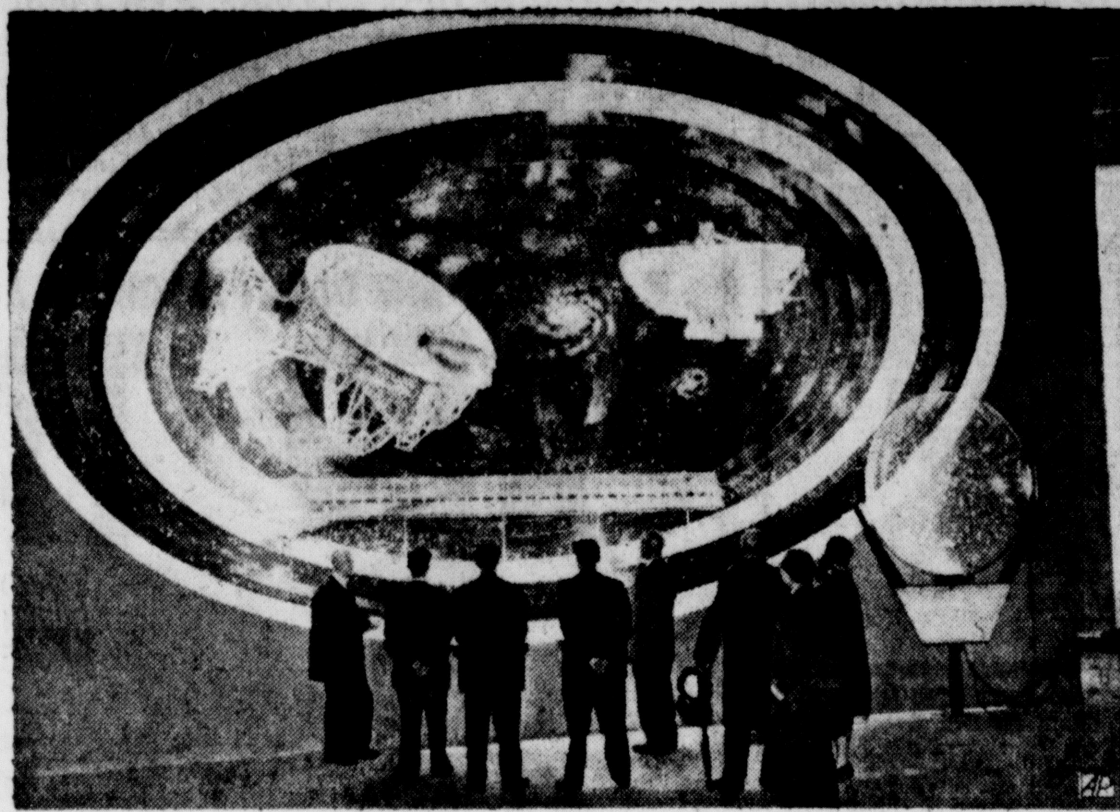

A spokesman for the Japanese-Americans protested vintage movies on the late, late shows. They are propaganda films left over from World War II and misrepresent their people, he said.

An Italo-American leader told of only limited success in getting television to disassociate his people and the underworld.

A Negro representative said all Chicago commercial stations had made time available to his organization but these were panel shows to which representatives from other fields had been invited and little, if anything, was accomplished in developing interest in racial understanding.

A Roman Catholic Church official declared time allotted to his faith for religious programs consisted of undesirable hours.

His Jewish counterpart testified that until recently no effort had been made to determine what material would interest the Jewish community.

Jackie Gets Horse, Two Tiger Cubs

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan took America's horse-loving First Lady to one of the most colorful horse shows in the world today and then gave her a Pakistani thoroughbred to take home.

Delighted at the gift, Jacqueline Kennedy said she was worried about how the animal would get back to the United States. Officials told her the 10-year-old bay gelding, named Sardar or Chief, would travel by an American military plane.

The plane will also pick up the two tiger cubs she got in India Wednesday.

Mrs. Kennedy said she hoped the horse would not get airsick. Pakistan was giving the U.S. First Lady royal treatment. It was a school and government office holiday Wednesday when she arrived from neutralist India to begin a 4½-day visit to this Asian ally of the United States. Officials declared another holiday today so children and workers could see her drive about the city.

Tens of thousands lined the flag-draped streets as she went to the stadium for the final day of the Lahore Horse and Cattle Show. There she joined Ayub

Khan and West Pakistan Governor Malik Amir Mohammad Khan in a carriage escorted by 38 lancers of the presidential bodyguard.

Fifty-six trumpeters sounded a fanfare as the carriage entered the stadium. The crowd of 150,000 rose and cheered. The carriage circled the field and then drove to the reviewing stand.

Mrs. Kennedy and Ayub stood at attention as a massed band of bagpipes, drums and brasses from 48 regiments played the Pakistan national anthem.

Hundreds of gas-filled balloons were released, some carrying placards advertising shoes and other items, as Mrs. Kennedy and Ayub Khan took their places in the guest gallery.

a part of Teacher's Week being sponsored by the store from March 18-24.

Mrs. Breman teaches at Mumford High School during the regular term and is Principal of Miller Junior High during the summer session.

Board Decrees Ducktail Hair Style Must Go

ATLANTA (AP)—The Georgia Board of Education says a high school pupil must do away with his ducktail style haircut if he wants his diploma.

The board voted 7-1 to uphold a county school board which supported a high school principal in suspending Stanley Sorrells, 17.

After the board's decision Wednesday, Stanley's father, Walter C. Sorrells, said, "This is not American."

Eric Staples, principal at Perry High School, had banned ducktail styles, calling them symbols of juvenile delinquency.

Sorrells' attorney, John P. Nixon, asked the board: "Do we in Georgia have the right to dictate how a man shall fix his hair so long as it does not offend public morality? If a school principal can say how hair should be worn he can say what kind of pants a man must wear and what color shoes."

The board majority took the position that maintaining discipline and the right of county boards to run the schools was the issue—not ducktails.

Say "kismet" to an American and it will immediately bring to mind a hit Broadway musical. But to a Moslem "kismet" is a term meaning fate, destiny. It expresses all the incidents and details of man's lot in life.

Man Arrested For Threat On JFK In Letter

OPELIKA, Ala. (AP)—Secret Service agents say Audrey Chappell sent a letter to President Kennedy which read:

"Dear Sir: I will come to Washington and put a bullet between your eyes. Thank you, Audrey Chappell."

The envelope bore a Lanett, Ala., postmark dated March 10, 1962. There was no return address.

Chappell was arraigned Wednesday on a charge of using U.S. mails to threaten the life of the President. He waived a preliminary hearing and was taken to jail in Montgomery in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Chappell lives in Chambers County, Ala., and listed his address as a rural route out of West Point, Ga. Lanett, in Chambers County, is adjacent to West Point, separated by the Alabama-Georgia state line.

Nautical Touches on Kennedy Desk Would Please Roosevelt

EDITOR'S NOTE — Douglas B. Cornell began covering the White House for The Associated Press when Franklin D. Roosevelt was chief executive. In the following article he examines the desk of President Kennedy and finds on it much that would interest Roosevelt.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — There aren't any donkeys or clutter on it. But if Franklin D. Roosevelt were alive today he would like the presidential desk in the White House because of its nautical touches.

The touches are in the desk itself and the things that are on it. The late president was a sea-going man and so is the present one. And each served in the Navy — Roosevelt as its assistant secretary in World War I, President Kennedy as a PT boat commander in the Pacific in World War II.

So FDR, who had his desk strewn with Democratic donkeys and gew gaws, undoubtedly would appreciate the Kennedy desk. It's a battered old piece of furniture, ornate, carved, and made from timbers of H. M. S. Resolute.

Mrs. Kennedy dug it out of the White House basement while on the hunt for historic objects. A chiseled inscription on the front in black letters against a gold background, tells how the Resolute was part of a search expedition in 1832, was abandoned, discovered and picked up by a U. S. whaling ship in 1855, refitted and sent to Queen Victoria of England by the president and people of the United States. When the ship was broken up, the queen had the desk made from some of the timbers and sent it to President Rutherford B. Hayes in 1878.

Now it once more has a place of honor, and it fits in with the naval battle scenes on the walls of the presidential office and a model of the "Constitution" Kennedy wanted. For one thing, there is the bit of coconut shell encased in a half dome of plastic. It was on this shell that Kennedy scratched a message for help that brought rescue for himself and surviving crewmen after a Japanese destroyer slashed his PT boat in two. Right next to it, also enclosed in plastic, is a gold inaugural medal presented to Kennedy in honor of another important date in his life—Jan. 20, 1961, the day he became President.

The book ends get back to things nautical in the form of brass cannons mounted on wooden bases. The cannons are replicas of 12-pounder secondary battery guns used on the "Constitution" and the "Bon Homme Richard" of the fledgling U.S. Navy. They were made as a gift for the President by Lt. Cmdr. Rutledge B. Barry, retired, from the metal of an old gun found on his property.

The desk set—pad, calendar book, blotter, pen holder—came from President Charles de Gaulle of France.

At the front of the desk is a brass lamp with a metal shade of soft green. The shade just about matches the telephone, with its 18 push buttons, on the left hand corner.

Sometimes a cigar is lying around loose. And there are a couple of ash trays handy. A large cut glass one that usually sits on the extreme right next to the coconut shell came from Ireland and has the Kennedy crest on it. This was a gift from a friend of the President's sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy. To go with the ash trays there is a king sized lighter inscribed JFK. And to go with the desk set there is an inkwell that holds a commercial bottle of ink.

From a prep school classmate and a long-time friend, Lemoine Billings of New York, there are three whale teeth, scattered around the desk top. Two are engraved with sailing ships and the third has an engraving of an old-time naval officer.

Between the book ends are copies of the President's own works, "Why England Slept," "Strategy of Peace" and "Profiles in Courage." With them is "To Turn The Tide"—a collection of Kennedy's speeches and statements.

Mrs. Kennedy had the volumes specially bound in dark red leather and gave them to her husband for Christmas. A slim book, also bound in red, entitled "As I Remember Joe," is a collection of articles by persons who knew the President's older brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., who was killed while serving in the Air Force in Europe in World War II.

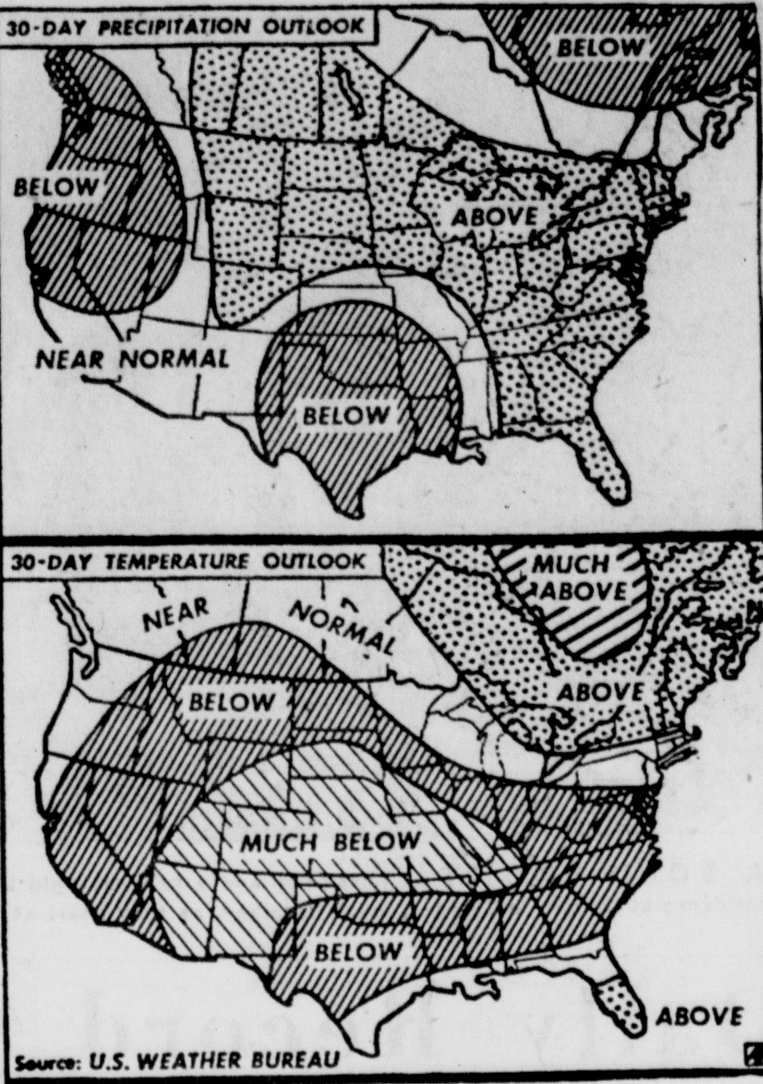

Usually there is a sixth volume—a collection of Kennedy's 1960 campaign speeches printed by a Senate committee.

And off to one side is a pocket version of the Congressional Directory.

Nobody seems to know where the President acquired a sheathed letter opener made in Finland. He's had it for years.

Back of the desk pad is a black cigarette box—empty and sometimes upside down, since the President is a cigar man.

Two calendars and a typed schedule of the presidential day complete the picture except for one thing—two photos of Kennedy holding his pretty little daughter Caroline in his arms, encased in a small, folding, gold frame.

Rules On Water System Status

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Public Service Commission has concluded the water system of H.S. and Pat McClure at Pineville is a public utility, at least until next July.

The McClures decided almost a year ago to quit selling water from their artesian well on the outskirts of Pineville. But their 24 customers complained.

The legal maneuvering resulted in three hearings before the PSC and a trip to Pineville by the commission's chief engineer, Ralph Duffy.

Wednesday the commission agreed with Duffy the 24 customers should solve their water problem by hooking onto a line from the Pineville municipal water system at a cost of a couple hundred dollars. The PSC gave them three months to get the job done.

Then, on July 1, the commission will look at the situation again and decide whether the McClures can quit their water business.

The well has been producing water since 1922 and has passed through a number of owners, all of whom supplied water for their neighbors.

McClure decided to quit the business because, he said, the water pressure was getting too low to supply water for his fishing lake.

Eichmann's Lawyer Files His Appeal

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann's lawyer appealed to the Israeli Supreme Court today to set aside the death sentence against the former Gestapo officer on the grounds that Eichmann was brought to Israel illegally and tried under an invalid law.

Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann's West German defense counsel, also asked to be allowed to introduce new evidence and to summon new witnesses, including a high official of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

Servatius asked the five-judge Supreme Court to summon Dr. Hans Globke, 63, a government counselor in Hitler's Interior Ministry, as an expert witness on the workings of Nazi racial laws.

Eichmann, condemned to the gallows as a major figure in the Nazi slaughter of six million European Jews, claimed during his trial he was only carrying out orders and had pointed a finger at Globke.

Eichmann charged that Globke was directly involved in working out the legal framework for deporting the Jews and confiscating their property—the job he himself was accused of carrying out as chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section. He did not ask during the trial, however, for Globke to be called as a witness.

Adenauer has repeatedly defended Globke, who claimed that while serving in the Hitler regime he saved Jews' lives even at the risk of his own.

Eichmann, 56, appeared rested after three months spent in solitary confinement since the special three-judge tribunal condemned him to death last December.

The courtroom was packed with 400 spectators, many of whom suffered personally from the Nazi persecution of Jews. Eichmann avoided looking in their direction.

The defense counsel charged that Eichmann, who was captured by secret Israeli agents in 1960 while hiding in Argentina under an assumed name, was illegally brought to Israel for trial.

"The state is the kidnaper in this case," Servatius declared. "The appellant cannot ask for his rights before a court of the state which kidnapped him."

In addition to Globke, the defense sought permission to call as witnesses two Israeli Airline officials—U.S.-born pilot Zvi Tohar and former operations manager Jack Shimony—who allegedly took part in bringing Eichmann from Argentina. The trial court had rejected a defense request to summon them.

The hearing of the appeal is expected to take a week. The high court then will retire, probably for a month, to consider its ruling.

JFK to Visit Palm Desert Over Weekend

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—This tiny community 100 miles southeast of Los Angeles gets a second guest of presidential rank when John F. Kennedy arrives Friday.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made his first visit here during his tenure. He liked it so well, he returned after he left the White House. He and his wife Mamie are spending the winter in a modern house at Eldorado Country Club.

In contrast, President Kennedy will spend the weekend in antique splendor.

Although no official announcement has been made, it is known that he'll be the guest of singer Bing Crosby. The Crosby home, modern on the outside, is a treasure trove of furnishings from San Simeon, the castle retreat of the late newspaper publisher William Randolph Hearst.

Nuclear Ship Voyage To Begin Friday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's first nuclear cargo-passenger ship, the NS Savannah, will shove off Friday on a several days sea voyage during which her atomic power plant is expected to be brought to high-power operation for the first time.

Announcing this today, the Atomic Energy Commission said the vessel will leave her pier at the Coast Guard Reserve Training Station at Yorktown, Va.

Duke of Windsor Protests TV Show of Life

NEW YORK — (AP)—A scheduled television biography of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor has been withdrawn because of the duke's protests, an attorney for the National Broadcasting Co. said today.

The attorney, Harry R. Olsson Jr., said the duke's attorney called the program an invasion of privacy and threatened suit to stop the showing at 7 p.m. Friday over WNBC-TV, the network's local station.

Olsson said the duke's attorney, Henry G. Walter, had sent similar letters to the program's sponsor, the Chemical Corn Exchange Bank and to the producer, Official Films, Inc.

The duke already has made an arrangement with an independent television producer, Jack Le Vien, to produce a film about his life called "A Kings Story." The script is finished and the film is about to be sold.

The NBC presentation was one of a series of biographical sketches. An NBC spokesman said it will be replaced by a biography of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi of India.

Western Auto Is Under New Management

The Western Auto Associate Store at 105 West Main was open Thursday under new management.

Cliff Barr, 2405 West 11th, former operator of the store, turned the ownership over to Larry Reddick and Delmar Beadles, both of the Kansas City area, in a recent negotiation.

Reddick was with Western Auto in Kansas City as a company store manager while Beadles was an associate store owner at Blue Springs before coming to Sedalia.

Beadles has purchased a home at 2419 Wing, while Reddick is still making his home in Kansas City.

Barr also sold his gas distribution business back to Skelly Oil Company in the deal.

Despite Stalemate

JFK Says Geneva Talks Must Go On

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite unabating signs of an East-West stalemate, President Kennedy says the Geneva disarmament conference and its sideline talks on Berlin must go on.

And he is gratified by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's declared willingness to cooperate with the United States on outer space projects.

At his news conference Wednesday, Kennedy acknowledged there is a basic difference between U.S. and Russian positions at Geneva on policing a nuclear test ban. He said "there is no evidence that we are going to quickly reach a settlement" on Berlin or Southeast Asia.

Kennedy asserted, however, that he is not prepared to abandon the effort at Geneva.

"It would be a mistake," he said, "for us to feel that there the prospects are finished."

Welcoming Khrushchev's reply to his proposals for cooperation in such fields as weather forecasting and communication via space satellites, Kennedy said the United States is committed to moving ahead "in a spirit of cooperation and for the benefit of all mankind."

A few hours after the news conference in Washington, U.S. and Soviet representatives on the U.N. Outer Space Committee met in New York.

Kennedy promised U.S. interests would be protected in these negotiations—negotiations he said are necessary "as space continues to be more and more under the hazard of being used for military purposes."

Kennedy's mood was serious, almost stern, throughout his 10th meeting with newsmen in the last 11 weeks. He spoke with obvious feeling about support for the United Nations and the service performed by National Guardsmen and reservists.

He shut out further discussion of his dispute with former vice President Richard M. Nixon over his 1960 campaign stand on Cuba. When a reporter questioned his implication that the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, was American territory, he said he may have been "incorrect legally" but insisted the United States holds treaty-granted responsibility for the area.

On a variety of subjects, Kennedy had this to say:

NUCLEAR CONTROLS—An array of observation posts around the world would be inadequate unless inspection teams were allowed inside the Soviet Union, for example, to determine whether a nuclear explosion or an earthquake caused signals picked up by detection instruments located elsewhere. Soviet refusal to admit inspection teams has raised the greatest barrier to agreement at Geneva.

UNITED NATIONS — Advocating the purchase of U.N. bonds, Kennedy said there is no evidence the United Nations would be able to pay back within the three allotted years a $100-million loan proposed by Republican senators as an alternative. Failure to go through with the bond purchase, he said, would break down U.N. operations in the Congo and Middle East.

RESERVISTS—Some people always get better breaks than others, he advised reservists who objected to being called to active duty. "Life is unfair," he said. But he declared they have "strengthened the foreign policy of the United States" in the Berlin and Southeast Asian crises and predicted they will find satisfaction later in feeling they contributed to the security of their families and country.

ALGERIA — Reproaching Moscow for quick recognition of the provisional Algerian government,

Kennedy said the United States will act when the proper moment comes rather than attempt "for political purposes to exploit a situation."

CUBA—Cuban plans to try prisoners captured in last year's futile invasion attempt as war criminals "is a matter of great national as well as personal distress," he said.

MEDICAL CARE—To brand his medical care program an opening wedge for socialized medicine, Kennedy said, is to use a version of "the oldest argument in the world." Had that argument succeeded, "there would not have been any progress on any social legislation in this country."

CONGRESS — He said Democratic party leaders "have been very faithful" and are "doing the best they can."

COMMUNICATIONS — Kennedy said he would have to examine whether cutting to $1 the price of shares in a communications satellite corporation to enable all taxpayers to get in on the project would be in the public interest. He voiced doubt the rate of return would compare with other investments for many years.

RS70—Nobody won or lost, Kennedy said, in the agreement that averted a contest over whether Congress had authority to order the executive branch to spend more than it wanted on the high-altitude RS70 bomber. It served the public interest and preserved good relations with Congress, he said.

Local Political Candidates At Annual Dinner

Democrats and Republicans "rubbed elbows" Wednesday night at a free smorgasbord given by Norman and Mary Prince at Bunnie Barbeque on Engineer Ave. The candidate on the city tickets of both parties were present, meeting voters of the second ward.

Nearly 600 persons were served pit barbeque, beef, ham, turkey and 'coon with all the trimmings, and it was all free. The affair is annual held each spring. Starting the line down the smorgasbord was Mayor Abe Silverman, and George Bryant, councilman of the second ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Prince started the affair several years ago and it has grown in attendance each year. After everyone who visited the place in the evening had been served, Mr. and Mrs. Prince prepared heaping plates which were taken to the two fire stations and to police headquarters for the men on duty and who could not attend.

There were no political speeches, but the candidates had an opportunity to visit with friends. Several of the candidates for county and state offices were also in attendance.

Light Rains In Weather Pattern

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A weather pattern of light scattered rains is moving across Missouri.

They are expected to end tonight, however, with clearing skies Friday.

Lows tonight will be in the 30s except for some around 40 degree readings in the southeast. Highs Friday will be in the upper 40s northeast, the low 50s northwest and the upper 50s southwest.

Low readings this morning ranged from 30 at Columbia and West Plains to 37 at Kansas City.

Dangerous Education Gap

One of those happy generalizations we hear constantly is that the process of getting an education is never done. There is too much to learn to get it all in school and college—and new knowledge keeps piling up at an astonishing rate.

These facts alone should assure a bustling, growing adult education program in the United States. The need exists, and the enlargement of our leisure provides the time.

Actually, however, adult education has an even more vital role to fill. For the truth is that vast numbers of Americans emerge from their school years badly undereducated.

Educational authorities say there are two million citizens who never went to school at all. Some 67 million have not completed high school, and 44 million who are 14 years or older could not pass tests intended to measure ninth grade performance.

These tens of millions represent the failures, the dropouts, the misdirected, the underprivileged.

They have entered the adult world handicapped both for work and for the duties of citizenship. Our democratic society presumes a citizenry sufficiently informed to judge the men and issues on whom they must vote. Our complicated economy puts an increasingly heavy premium on workers with skill and training.

Public school adult education programs are tailored to a large extent to the needs of the educationally handicapped. Half the programs offered are in the nature of remedial efforts.

Of all the people enrolled in such classes, some 17 per cent are taking vocational studies, 14 per cent are completing high school, 9 per cent are involved in elementary or Americanization studies. Another 1 per cent are rural enrollees taking practical courses in agriculture.

It is sad that so much of the adult education effort has to be given over to "catch-up" studies. Individually and as a nation we would benefit far more if we all undertook post-school training with an already solid educational base established.

But that condition is a luxury of which we can only dream. The immediate problem is to provide more adult courses—for all purposes—than we presently have.

Surveys show that more than a third of U.S. cities have no public school adult programs at all, and this deficiency strikes half the cities in the 2,500-5,000 population range.

Put this major shortcoming together with a serious lack of library facilities in many parts of the country—Sedalia excepted, thank goodness—and you have an extremely costly and dangerous education gap. Unless we narrow it, millions of U.S. adults will never catch up and millions more never keep up with the turbulent world about them.

Win Algerian Respect for U.S.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The wounds between France and Algeria, deep and bitter as they are, probably can be healed, according to members of the American Friends service committee who long have been working among Algerian refugees.

Mrs. Lauraama Pixton, a Philadelphia Quaker, points to three favorable factors in the current Algerian-French bitterness:

1. Algerian refugees who study in Quaker schools want to learn to read and write French. They feel that relations will improve and that the language will be of great help.
2. Members of the European community who are waging bloody underground war against De Gaulle are not French. They are chiefly Spanish, Corsican and Italian; have become French citizens through long residence in Algeria, but are not loyal to France.
3. Some French liberals have long been working with Algerian refugees in exile. They have the respect and love of the Algerians. Algerians generally respect De Gaulle, his courage and sincerity.

On the other hand, Algerians are skeptical, if not critical, of the United States. They know that John F. Kennedy, when a senator, made a speech advocating Algerian independence, but can't understand why JFK as president hasn't cracked down on France to prevent American arms sent to NATO from being used against Algerians.

However, the United States now has a real opportunity through foreign aid to win Algerian friendship, and the work of the American Friends service committee should be of some help. The Friends have been training 2,500 Algerian refugees annually in simple skills such as masonry, carpentry, and electricity, needwork, etc. The lack of education or skills in Algeria is inconceivable to the average Westerner.

Father Joe Kennedy Improves

President Kennedy got some surprise information about the care of his father when Tommy Doyle, a 10-year-old cripple, came to present the first sheet of Easter seals in the crippled children campaign.

With him were Elwood M. Brooks of Central Bank and Trust of Denver, chairman of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults; Mrs. Catherine Bauer, executive secretary; and Abigail Van Buren, who writes the "Dear Abby" column and is chairman of the Easter seal campaign.

"We have a special patient in Palm Beach," Mrs. Bauer told the President. "Your father."

"Oh," said the President in surprise.

"We've been treating him for some time," Mrs. Bauer explained. "I hope there's been some improvement."

Though Kennedy didn't go into it, his father has improved considerably in walking, but still has trouble with his speech. The conversation illustrates one important point about the Easter seal campaign, namely, that adults as well as children are aided and there is no discrimination because of money. If a patient needs help, he is given help.

President Kennedy got to chatting with Tommy, who comes from Manhattan Beach, Calif., and who brought his football to be autographed. Kennedy was surprised to learn that Tommy plays football even though crippled. The President, a touch football player before his back injury returned, wanted details on how Tommy played.

While autographing the football, the President dropped the pen. Tommy, a cripple, couldn't pick it up. The President, who has trouble with his back, couldn't stoop. Abby Van Buren picked it up.

Note—The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults has increased its services from 9,000 cripples in 1922 to 250,000, thanks to its hard-working staff and the generosity of the American people.

Squeezing TV Tubes

The "old lady of Pennsylvania Avenue," the Federal Trade Commission, is moving with ladylike speed to bring a monopoly case against the big TV tube manufacturers. But while it moves with precise deliberation, most of the independent TV tube manufacturers will be put out of business.

Already 12 independents have gone into bankruptcy in about 12 months, thereby giving General Electric, Sylvania, and RCA about 80 per cent of the business.

The squeeze is put on the small manufacturers by the big boys by dropping prices below a point where they can produce. Big companies can make up for the losses by taking it out of other lines, but the independents can't do this. In the past year alone the price of TV tubes has dropped 35 per cent.

Federal trade officials are preparing a cease and desist order, but this will require a public hearing and 60 days notice. In 60 days, most of the independent manufacturers will be out of business. Pioneer Electronics of Los Angeles, employing 200 men, recently went into bankruptcy, while the picture tube division of Thomas Electronics at Passaic, N.J., also closed down.

One interesting question the FTC wants to look into is whether Sylvania, a subsidiary of General Telephone, is taking losses at the expense of its telephone operation and whether telephone rates are thereby influenced. If so, this would be an important question for the Federal Communications Commission; also interesting for Congress to consider in regard to the new American communications satellite.

The Postal Rates

The Senate hearings on increasing the postal rates are well on the way, but they will probably last many weeks. Dozens of spokesmen for newspapers, magazines, direct mail advertisers and many others have asked to testify. All of these interests have been shocked that the House had approved the higher postal rates with a limited amount of debate.

The House bill provided for a 5 cent rate per ounce on first class mail which would bring an estimated $410,000,000 a year additional postal income. Second class users would pay an additional 1 cent on each piece of mail going outside the county yielding about $53,000,000. Third class postage would rise from 2½ cents to 3½ cents per piece of mail, yielding $108,000,000 in additional income for the postal department.

This would about put the Post Office Department in the black, but it would also put some magazine publishers out of business, particularly the educational and professional type. It would be extremely hard on newspapers which have a large mail circulation.

Most magazine officials acknowledge that major increases will have to come on second and third class mail as well as on first class letters. The most they can hope for is that increases will not be too steep and that they will take effect over a period of several years so that they can be assimilated gradually.

'Why, That Coward—He Died.'

The World Today

Soft Answer Turneth Away Wrath

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Kennedy were a traffic cop, there'd be no head-on crashes at his corner, at least head on into him.

After 14 months in office he's a firm believer that a soft answer turneth away wrath and that grievous words stir up anger.

He uses the soft, and avoids the grievous, particularly with people with whom he has to keep on doing business.

In this year alone a number of people have headed straight for him, but he has managed to de-tour them without using a black-jack.

One was New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who, like the very conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, is a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1964.

Rockefeller accused Kennedy of political fakery when the President said he'd like to have a Negro, Robert C. Weaver, head up a proposed department of urban affairs and housing.

Kennedy was asked about the governor's crack at his next news conference. He could have gotten into a shouting match with the governor. But he brushed him aside. He said he had heard no body could get to the right of Goldwater but now he doubted it.

Next came the highly conservative Sen. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina Democrat, who went after the Kennedy administration for censoring military officers' speeches and forced a Senate investigation.

It was just at the time Kennedy, rejecting Soviet Premier Khrushchev's bid for a summit meeting at the disarmament conference, said things ought to be worked out first at a lower level by foreign ministers.

At his next news conference a reporter, noting it was Valentine Day, asked Kennedy about having a "heart-to-heart" talk with Thurmond who had called his foreign policy defeatist.

Kennedy, instead of giving Thurmond what-for, grinned and suggested a meeting with the senator should first be arranged at a "lower level." Not long afterward Thurmond excitement about censorship melted away.

This week the President and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who bumped heads in the 1960 presidential race, tangled again. Nixon started the tangling. "In his new book Nixon said he got angry at Kennedy in 1960 for calling for action against Fidel Castro after being briefed by the Eisenhower administration that a Cuban invasion was being prepared."

Kennedy avoided a direct clash with Nixon. Instead of answering the Californian himself, he had the White House issue a statement that he had not been told about the invasion plans until briefings after the election.

The President was supported in this by Allen W. Dulles who, as head of the Central Intelligence Agency in 1960, was the one who briefed Kennedy. He said he had never told him about the invasion plans during the campaign.

At Wednesday's news conference a reporter went fishing with a question about Nixon. It was a good chance for Kennedy to cut loose on his former rival. Instead, he said the White House statement had finished the business.

One of the wonders of Washington is how Kennedy can refrain from going after both the Republicans and his own Democrats who try to massacre his programs.

He may feel he wants to avoid conflict with Democrats in the belief some of them can be won over later if no ill will is created. He can hardly feel, however, he can do the same with the Republicans.

The prime example of letting an opponent off the hook without tearing his pants also came Wednesday in the case of Rep. Carl Vinson, Georgia Democrat and powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Vinson not only wanted Kennedy to spend far more money on the RS70 bomber than the President thinks necessary but, in his enthusiasm, wanted the House to direct the President to do so.

If the House did, it would have meant Congress was interfering with the President's authority. Kennedy said he'd restudy the problem but the word "direct" must come out. Vinson backed down, defeated.

Kennedy must do business with Vinson many times in the future. At his news conference Wednesday he tried to save face for the Georgian. He said there was "no winner and no loser" in their fight.

TOURS, 732 — HIGH TIDE OF ISLAM IN EUROPE

While Rome was dissolving before the advances of the barbarians and Christianity was working out its final structure as the Roman Catholic Church, a new religion had arisen in Arabia. It too believed in one God—Allah—and used the sword to prove its truth.

Dating from 622, in little more than a century it spread over the Middle East, North Africa, Spain and into the land of the Franks. Once again, as at Thermopylae and Marathon, western arms met an eastern tide.

Charles Martel was the hero of Tours, and his grandson founded an empire that stands out briefly amid centuries of anarchy before and after. Charlemagne, the Christian, also used the sword to spread his religion and rule among the pagan tribes of Europe. Barbaric in this respect, he was however a lover of learning and an able and just administrator. The growing importance of the bishop of Rome—the pope—was shown on Christmas Day, 800, when Leo III crowned Charlemagne new emperor of a revived Roman Empire, the Holy Roman Empire.

But Charlemagne's successors lacked his stature and the nascent empire soon split apart. The feudal age had dawned, when every man was a vassal to another man for protection and security. Barons and local lords were the important figures, each with his private army. The mass of men were bound to the soil and the manor, whether as near-slave serfs or freemen. Danes and Norsemen periodically ravaged the land. Ignorance reigned and the ALMIGHTY and most merciful Father, we have erred and strayed from Thy ways like lost sheep. We have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts. We have offended against Thy holy laws. We have left undone those things which we ought to have done, and we have done those things which we ought not to have done, and there is no health in us. But Thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us, miserable offenders. Spare Thou those, O God, who confess their faults. Restore Thou those who are penitent, according to Thy promises declared unto mankind in Christ Jesus our Lord. Not Apt To Be Controversial

Republicans Setting Up A Policy Study Group

By ROBERT E. HENNESSEE

Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Republicans are setting up a policy study group similar to the now-defunct Democratic Advisory Council.

The DAC flourished amid controversy while the Democrats were out of power. President Kennedy, after his election, let the council know it no longer was needed, and it died, feeling it had never received its due.

The new Republican group—to be called the All-Republican Council—is not apt to become a very controversial subject inside the party.

While the Democratic Advisory Council was controlled by the liberals in the party, the Republican council represents the party as well as any group could.

Still, its creation represents an effort to siphon off the power of GOP congressional leaders, Senator Dirksen and Rep. Charlie Halleck, just as the Democratic Advisory Council was set up to take the policy making out of the hands of then Democratic congressional leaders, Senator Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn. Johnson and Rayburn were at constant odds with the liberal advisory group.

Dirksen and Halleck are included in the new Republican council, although neither sees any reason for its existence.

Republicans who pushed the creation of the GOP advisory group did so not from a feeling of basic policy differences with Dirksen and Halleck, but because they believed the "Ev and Charlie Show" image was hurting the party.

Along with the Congressional leaders, the new council will include six representative governors, including Nelson Rockefeller; and General Eisenhower, Richard Nixon, Senator Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, Senator Barry Goldwater, etc. About 50 prominent Republicans will belong.

The list of members was compiled by GOP National Chairman William E. Miller. It is, on the whole, a pretty conservative council and unlikely to cause Dirksen and Halleck any trouble.

TIME OF YOUR LIFE

BY ARTHUR LORD

for practical advice on the problems of growing older.

WHAT MAKES AN OLD MAN?

By ARTHUR LORD

DEAR ARTHUR: My father just turned 50, but was it ever a struggle for him! I'm not kidding. He refers to his first 50 years as "his youth." He speaks of himself. "He has cut out almost all physical activity. And he used to be so spirited."

Now he just talks about what he failed to accomplish in his so-called youth, and how bleak the future seems. He's terribly depressing. How can I persuade him that he is not an old man?

PATIENCE A.

DEAR PATIENCE: I wish everyone could read about your father, Patience. If they did, perhaps they would understand that his attitude is not unusual. Your father typifies those who are afraid to retain their youthfulness. And there are millions like him.

The years pass and chronologically we must grow older. Does that mean that we must discard the adventures of being alive, the life styles of our past, the promises of our future, the fruits of our intellect and the satisfactions of our senses? Assuredly not.

Growing older at any age can be as rich and rewarding as we choose to make it. But we must make a meaningful choice. If we casually and unreflectively equate physical aging with spiritual, intellectual, and emotional senility, then aging becomes nothing more than a curse. Rest assured that your father has not reached this stage yet.

You cannot persuade your father that he is not an old man. You can help him understand that you and your family do not think of him as an old man. Continue to treat him as a vigorous and only outposts of learning were the monasteries where ancient manuscripts were copied and preserved, if not understood.

In a world apart at this time was the Moslem culture, which flourished particularly in Spain. While Europe wallowed in superstition, Arab astronomers, mathematicians, physicians studied and added to Greek lore. They were to be a bridge to the ancient world during the Renaissance.

But for hundreds of years, splintered Europe was the scene of bitter power struggles between kings and lesser nobles and between kings and popes, with crowns and peasants as pawns.

Appendicitis Case, Question Marks Plague Famed Oriole Kiddie Korps

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles' prized Kiddie Korps consisted today of Chuck Estrada, a possible week-end recruit, an appendicitis case and a big question mark.

That big question mark was penciled in after the name of Jack Fisher, towering young right-hander jolted by a series of sharp pains in his right shoulder while warming up to pitch Wednesday's exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds.

The 23-year-old, 6-foot-2 fireballer turned up with an inflamed shoulder earlier in the spring grind, then reported himself ready to take his turn on the mound.

He is being flown to Baltimore for X rays.

The sudden loss of Fisher, who served home run No. 60 to Roger Maris during the 1961 campaign while posting a 10-13 record with a .390 earned run average, left only Estrada as a full-time, able-bodied member of the Birds' big four.

Steve Barber, the club's big winner last season with 18 triumphs, is toiling for Uncle Sam, but may be available to pitch weekends. Milt Pappas, 13-9 last year, is recuperating from an emergency appendectomy and will not resume workouts until April.

The series of stunning setbacks has forced rookie manager Billy Hitchcock to realign his starting quartet, using Estrada with veteran Hal Brown, Dick Hall and Billy Hoelt. Hoelt, acquired from Detroit, pitched five innings as the Orioles whipped the Reds 12-6 at Tampa.

Kansas City, getting strong pitching from Norm Bass and Bob Grim, edged Washington 2-1 at West Palm Beach and then announced that $125,000 bonus hurler Lew Krausse was being shipped to their minor league camp.

Elsewhere, top pitching performances were turned in as the Chicago Cubs shut out Cleveland 2-0 at Tucson. The New York Mets blanked Detroit 1-0 at St. Petersburg and St. Louis kept the Chicago White Sox scoreless 2-0 at Sarasota.

The New York Yankees belted Philadelphia 13-10 at Clearwater for their 10th victory in 11 games. Los Angeles' Angels blasted San Francisco 16-3 at Palm Springs, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat Pittsburgh 4-1 at Fort Myers and Boston edged Houston 8-7 in 13 innings at Scottsdale.

The Orioles hammered 17 hits against the Reds with Marv Throneberry getting four, including two homers, and Russ Snyder chipping in with a circuit shot. Bass and Grim checked the Senators on seven hits with Haywood Sullivan driving in both A's runs on a home and double.

Glen Hobbie, Dave Gerard and George Schultz fashioned a three-hitter for the Cubs as Lou Brock led the attack against the Indians with a double and triple. Elie Chacon squeezed Gus Bell home with the lone run as Mets pitchers Ray Daviault, Herb Moford and Charles Moorhead four-hit the Tigers.

Larry Jackson and Paul Toth checked the White Sox on five hits. Former teammate Minnie Minoso and Carl Sawatski picked up the RBI for the Cards. A three-run homer by pitcher Marshall Bridges and a solo shot by Pedro Gonzalez powered the Yanks to their triumph over the Phils.

The Angels scored 12 runs in the third, all off Giants' pitcher Billy Pierce, as every regular but catcher Bob Rodgers had a hit in the uprising. Lee Walls had three hits, drove in two runs with a homer and scored twice himself to insure the Dodgers win over the Pirates.

A double by Pidge Brown and Don Tausig's two-out single gave the Red Sox a come-from-behind victory against the Colts.

Name Warmath To West Coach Staff

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Murray Warmath of Minnesota today was named to the coaching staff of the West football squad in the All-America Bowl game here on June 23.

Warmath will assist the West's head coach, Darrell Royal of Texas.

Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama will be head coach of the East squad, assisted by Woody Hayes of Ohio State and Bill Murray of Duke.

Senior Paced Teams Carry Favored Role

NEW YORK (AP)—Sophomore-sparked Dayton and senior-paced St. John's carry the favorite roles tonight in the semi-finals of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

The Ohio Flyers, seeking their first NIT title in 10 tries, are slim picks over hustling Loyola of Chicago, which also leans on first-year men. The home town Redmen, out for their fourth NIT crown, are granted a larger edge over a sound Duquesne team in the second half of the double-header.

The first game goes at 7:30 p.m., EST, the second at 9:30 p.m.

Dayton, five times runner-up in this tournament, has its work cut out against Loyola. The Flyers swamped Wichita and Houston on the way to the semis, largely on the inspired play of sophomores Bill Chmielewski, 6-foot-10, and Gordie Hatton, 6-foot-1.

The rugged Chmielewski has 56 points in two outings. He also chipped in with fine rebounding and feeding. Hatton, with 43 points, is the team floor leader as well. Garry Roggenburk, Hal Schoen, and Tom Hatton, Gordie's older brother, round out the fine cast.

The Loyola Ramblers, who drew a bye in the first round, also were impressive in dumping a solid Temple team, 75-64 in the quarter-finals. Their pell-mell attack features four sophs, including 6-foot-6 Vic Rouse, who leaps like a 7-footer.

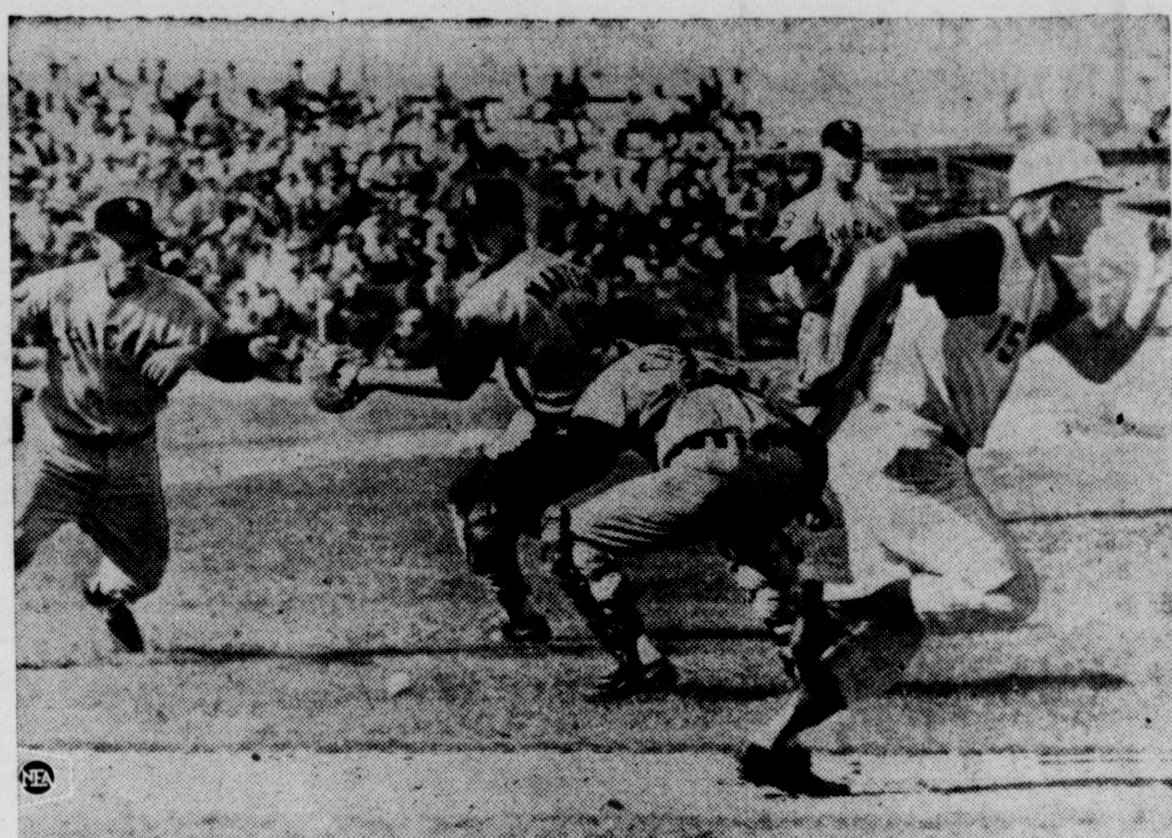

The nation's scoring leader, the Ramblers run and run and aren't afraid to pop the ball up.

St. John's and Duquesne are more deliberate. The Redmen feature 6-foot-10 Leroy Ellis, outstanding player in the metropolitan area.

Despite a weak bench, St. John's produced a superb effort in knocking out Holy Cross Tuesday night, moving the ball until the right shot came along.

Duquesne collected the scalps of Navy and nationally ranked Bradley en route to the semis. The Dukes lack height but not poise, much of which is provided by sophomore Willie Somerset, a 5-foot-10 take charge guy.

The burly backcourt man is built like a football player, which he was. Tournament wags are saying his mother made his give up the gridiron game because "she was afraid he would hurt somebody."

To Play Cincy

UCLA May Be a Sleeper In NCAA Cage Showdown

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A team noted for its alertness, the Far West regional eliminations, play defending national champion Cincinnati (27-2) in the second game of a semi-final doubleheader that opens with top-ranked Ohio State (25-1) meeting Wake Forest (21-8).

No one who remembers the way another West Coast sleeper, California, came from out of the alarans to win the national title the last time the championships were held in Louisville — in 1959 — is overlooking the Bruins.

Their record? Forget it. They lost seven of their first 11 games. They've traveled at a 14-2 pace since.

Their lack of height, which shows 6-5, 230-pound Fred Slaughter as the over-all biggest man among the front liners? Forget that, too. In winning the Far West regional at Provo, Utah, they disposed of the biggest team in the NCAA tournament—Oregon State, with 7-1 Mel Counts—by the tidy score of 88-69.

Their low national ranking? They were rated third best in the Big Five conference in pre-season estimates, yet here they are only two victories away from the national championship.

"I've never been so proud of a team in my life," Coach John Wooden said.

"They play well together now," said Coach Jack Gardner of Utah, which beat the Uclans 88-79 in the Los Angeles Classic last December while Wooden's team was developing.

Walt Hazzard, another sophomore, joins Slaughter in the Uclans' starting lineup along with three seniors—Gary Cunningham, who is 6-6 but weighs only 190; 6-2 Johnny Green, and 6-5 Pete Blackman. Green is the top scorer with a 19.4 average, although his .387 field goal percentage is the poorest among the regulars.

Coach Ed Jucker of Cincinnati remembers too well what California did in the 1959 tournament (he was an assistant when un-sung Cal beat the Bearcats in the national semifinals) to underrate any team that has come this far.

"I learned my lesson then," he said. "You don't underestimate any team at this stage."

As the nation's coaches began streaming into town for the games and the concurrent meetings, most were talking of an anticipated rematch of last year's championship — in which Cincinnati upset unbeaten Ohio State 70-65 in overtime.

The Buckeyes and their great three-time All-America, Jerry Lucas, beat Wake Forest 84-62 at Wake Forest in December and polished off UCLA 105-84 in the Los Angeles Classic a few days later. But the Deacons, like UCLA, found themselves late-winning their last 12 after standing 9-8 at mid-season. In 6-8, 230-pound All-America Len Chappell, Wake Forest has one of the top big men in basketball.

"We had our days, but we kept battling back," said Coach Bones McKinney of the Deacons. "I think we've licked our troubles."

Cousey Has Bad News For Opponent

BOSTON (AP)—Bob Cousy has bad news for the rest of the National Basketball Association. He'll be back for another season with the world champion Boston Celtics.

A veteran—at 33—of a dozen years in the physically exhausting NBA, the 6-1 floor general and court magician decided Wednesday after talking it over with the boss, Walter Brown, to play one more year.

"If Walter wants me to return for another season I'll do it," Cousy said before the conference. "I owe him that much."

The former Holy Cross star had been mulling over two other possibilities: staying with the Celtics in a front office job or leaving pro basketball to coach the sport at Boston College.

Though Cousy did not admit it, it was believed the BC post was his for the asking. He planned to talk with officials at Boston College today, explaining personally his decision to remain with the Celtics.

It was believed that the non-playing Boston job would have been a combination of scouting and public relations work for the Celtics, who despite their three consecutive NBA championships are not particularly good gate attractions in Boston.

"I guess you fellows will have to watch me running up and down the court for another season," the Cozy grinningly cracked to writers as he and Brown emerged from the 90-minute conference in Brown's office.

Brown felt the answer to a question whether he was glad to have Cousy returning was obvious.

"Of course we're glad he's coming back," he said. "Where would we ever get another player like him?"

Cousy had made it clear for some time that if he did play next year it definitely would be his last.

Cadet James Harris Awarded Rifle Letter

Cadet James W. Harris, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Alexander E. Harris, 205 North Carswell Circle, Whiteman Air Force Base, has been awarded a Wentworth Military Academy varsity rifle team reserve letter. The announcement was made by Maj. John C. Readecker, athletic director of the academy.

Cadet Harris received the award Wednesday night in the academy's dining hall, at which time the winter sports lettermen were announced. Capt. William Moses, who coached the riflemen, pre-

Valley Senior Will Join Truckers Cage

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Gene Wiley, 6-foot-10 all-Missouri Valley senior at Wichita, will join the Denver-Chicago Truckers A.A.U. basketball team in Denver Monday, Bill Hodge, sports editor of the Wichita Eagle, said Wednesday night.

In his column, Hodge added that Wiley will not be eligible to compete with the Truckers in the National A.A.U. tournament opening Monday night in Denver. He will join the team's active player list April 2, Hodge said.

Murchison Involved In Anti-trust

BALTIMORE (AP) — Clint Murchison Jr., owner of the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, touched on a key issue of the American Football League's $10 million antitrust suit Wednesday as he outlined the reasons behind NFL expansion in 1960.

The 38-year-old Texas financier told U.S. District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, who is hearing the case without a jury, that the NFL's expansion into Dallas was moved ahead one year after the AFL announced plans to field a Dallas team.

He said this was done in order "to get off on even footing" with the rival AFL.

Murchison said he asked for a commitment about Dallas from NFL expansion chairman George Halas on Aug. 29, 1959, so "we could negotiate for the Cotton Bowl, and so we could dissuade Lamar (Hunt) from starting a new league, which I felt he was doing because he thought there wouldn't be an NFL franchise in Dallas."

The AFL contends the older league expanded into Dallas just as the new league was preparing to launch a team there as a part of a plan to squeeze the AFL out of the professional football business.

Murchison testified that prior to the Aug. 29 announcement

Kansas City Steers Make Big Showing

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Steers made the American Basketball League's first race such a runaway that the league won't go through the motions of a championship playoff for the second half of the season.

Instead, the other six teams will vie in a kind of round-robin tournament and the winner will tackle the Steers for the grand championship.

Ken Krueger, owner of the Steers, announced the arrangement and said the process will start at Pittsburgh next Wednesday night.

There will be a second round in Pittsburgh March 29, another at an undetermined site March 30 and the windup will come in Kansas City March 31. Details of the tournament will be worked out at a league meeting in Chicago Saturday.

The winner and the Steers will collide in the first two games of a best-of-five series April 1 and 3 at Kansas City.

The Steers ran their second-half record to 24-13 Wednesday night with a 110-101 victory over the New York Tapers. This gave them a six-game bulge on San Francisco in the Western Division and four games on Cleveland, leader in the Eastern Division.

The Steers easily took the first-half championship in the Western Division.

Halas said the NFL would expand from 12 to 14 teams in 1961. "He (Halas) was definite about expanding into Dallas and Houston," the Cowboy owner said.

Label Dispute Over Paper May Result in Court Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legal dispute revolving around a labeling provision of the 1950 Internal Security Act may be headed for the Supreme Court.

The provision requires that publications mailed by, or on behalf of, Communist organizations must be labeled: "Disseminated by (blank), a Communist organization."

On March 9, James E. Jackson, editor of the Worker, was sentenced to six months in jail for contempt of court after refusing to answer questions before a federal grand jury in Washington investigating Communist party activities.

The Worker is a Communist paper which was once a daily but is now published twice a week in New York. It does not identify itself in its masthead as being linked with the Communist party.

On March 12, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia postponed the jailing of Jackson indefinitely—until it announces further action in the case.

The court acted after hearing charges—and denials—that the questioning of Jackson was in violation of the guarantee of a free press, as set forth in the First Amendment of the Constitution.

Among the questions put to Jackson were: Does the editorial policy of the Worker reflect the viewpoint of the Communist party? Does the party dictate the policy of the paper?

Jackson refused to answer, one of his grounds being the Fifth Amendment guarantee that a person shall not be compelled to incriminate himself.

When he was granted immunity from prosecution for his answers, he still refused to answer. His lawyer, Joseph Forer, said there was "an unprecedented point in this case—an action against a newspaper editor who refuses to answer questions about the policy and finances of his newspaper."

Forer said that to compel "a dissenting newspaper" to answer such questions would violate the First Amendment.

Nevertheless, U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff held Jackson in contempt and imposed the sentence which was later stayed by the Appeals Court.

U.S. Atty. David C. Acheson took the position in court that freedom of the press was not involved. There was no attempt, he said, to interfere with the Worker's editorial content.

The questions, he said, were designed to bring out whether the paper was controlled by the Communist party and, therefore, where a crime was committed when the label was omitted.

The 1950 act requiring the label is often called the McCarran Act. The Supreme Court, in a 5-4 decision June 5, 1961, upheld constitutionality of the act, under which the Communist party has, among other things, been directed to register with the Justice Department as a tool of Moscow. It has also been ordered to list its officers and members and give an annual financial accounting.

Since the Jackson case is still in the courts, the Justice Department declines any comment on it. So also does Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., who has long championed press freedom as chairman of a House subcommittee on government information.

V.M. (Red) Newton Jr., an editor and long a leader in the fight for freedom of information, takes the position the labeling requirement is in no way a danger to freedom. In fact, he said, it "exemplifies perfectly the great American principle of freedom of the press."

Newton is managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune and chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity. Jackson had written Newton's committee protesting the labeling requirement. In reply, Newton said federal law requires all American publications to print the names of their officers and stockholders periodically, and this "certainly has in no way impeded

Survey Forecasts a Drop In Number of Home Buyers

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you thinking of buying a home this spring? A lot of people would like to know. And an increasing number are afraid not enough of you are to make life glow for builders, appliance makers and dealers, home furnishers, the various utilities and the mortgage lenders. A consumer intention survey by the University of Michigan's survey research center says fewer persons than in any of the last three years are planning to buy a home this year. But those who are have set their sights on a more expensive one than in the preceding years.

The government says that new housing construction in February fell 2 per cent below a year ago and on a seasonally adjusted basis was the lowest for any month since December 1960.

Mortgage bankers report that lack of demand is weakening interest rates in many sections of the nation. They also report the number of foreclosures rose to 72,000 in 1961, the highest since 1940. The rate, however, is less disturbing because there are more mortgages now than then. The 1961 rate is 3.3 foreclosures for each 1,000 mortgages.

Diehard optimists stress that housing starts usually drop in late winter, and weather this year has been particularly nasty in many sections of the nation. They hope that spring will revive the home building industry on schedule. The Commerce Department still sticks, at least officially, to its forecast that private housing starts this year will reach 1.4 million units, up 100,000 from 1961.

The chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Joseph P. McMurray, notes an offsetting factor to the slump in building of one family homes. He stresses the steady rise in the demand for apartments. He says:

"As our population has aged, many people have surrendered the amenities of a single family dwelling suitable for a younger family for a new bundle of advantages available in apartment houses. Also, young couples prefer to get their start in an apartment unit. We anticipate that in a few years when marriage rates are again on the rise the demand for apartment units will be even greater."

The marriage rate cycle is one reason given for the slackening demand for houses. Those of an age to move from bridal apartment to the house for a growing family belong to the depressed baby crops of the troubled 1930s.

The big war and postwar crops have yet to reach the home-buying age.

Rev. Cleo Gray gave the devotional and complimented the girls on the nice job that the scouts were doing toward building better citizens for the future.

The meeting was adjourned and all were invited to visit the rooms for Open House and to go the cafeteria for refreshments.

Washington Scouts Present PTA Program

The Washington PTA held its meeting with a capacity crowd Thursday.

The president, Mrs. J. C. Frownfelter, presided over the meeting. The list of officers were presented by the nominating committee. They are: Mrs. Charles Bell, first vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Davidson, second vice president; Mrs. Dale Gregory, third vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Abney, secretary; and Mrs. Ney Wingo, treasurer.

Miss Bessie Perkins was asked to introduce the new teacher, Mrs. Muller, who is taking Mrs. Odell's third grade class for the remainder of the year. Room count was presented to the third grade. Teachers are Mrs. Muller and Mrs. Crosslin.

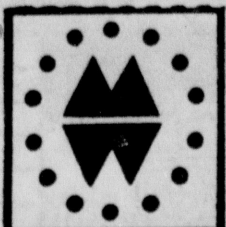

It was announced that there will be an appreciation dinner for the teachers on April 6.

The program chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Steele, gave the topic for the evening, "Building for Responsible Citizenship." The program was turned over to the Girl Scouts of Washington School, starting with the Color Guard and the pledge of allegiance by the seventh grade scout troop. Their leaders are Mrs. Richard Coats and Mrs. Leroy Gehring. Mrs. Bill Vaughn presented Mrs. Ed Baker with her leadership pin. Troop 41, sixth grade scouts, sang "God Bless America" and "Peace on the River." Mrs. Bill Vaughn and Mrs. Ed Baker are their leaders.

Mrs. Audrey Moore's groups 30 and 38 gave the history of scouting. A birthday cake representing fifty years of scouting was then brought out by Mrs. Ney Wingo, after which "Happy Birthday" was sung by the scouts.

Rev. Cleo Gray gave the devotional and complimented the girls on the nice job that the scouts were doing toward building better citizens for the future.

The meeting was adjourned and all were invited to visit the rooms for Open House and to go the cafeteria for refreshments.

List of Notables Certain To Warm Your Loneliness

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Whom would you most enjoy sharing your insomnia with? Or being caught with in a traffic jam?

It used to be a popular parlor conversational gambit a generation ago to discuss the question, "If you were a castaway on an island, what five persons in all history would you prefer to have as companions?"

Some time later a variant of this game developed: "What five living people would you choose last as companions on such an occasion?"

The fashionable wisecrack answer was: "Elsa Maxwell, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, and any two of their friends." The idea seemed to be that a modern Robinson Crusoe wouldn't find them of much real help in building up a desert island from scratch.

Well, even the island called Manhattan can be a bit lonely (if not downright uninhabitable) at times. Two of the dumbest times are when you have insomnia, or are stuck alone in a cab during a hopeless traffic jam.

The other evening, bored with sleeplessness during a bout with a large sore throat and a small fever, I fell to brooding over that old parlor game.

What five or ten people in all history would be most entertaining to have around in periods of boredom or insomnia?

Well, the choices are endlessly fascinating, and I made so many switches it was dawn before I had finished my list.

Naturally, I started off with my wife, Frances, and since two married couples make for better company, I promptly added Adam and Eve. Everyone is naturally curious about how life was in the old days, and I'd give anything to hear Eve's version of what happened in Eden.

Then I picked Helen of Troy and Cleopatra, the two feminine trouble-making beauties who have perhaps most stirred men's dreams.

Next I decided on three trouble-making, civilization shakers—Julius Caesar, Napoleon Bonaparte and Adolf Hitler.

And to more than balance that warring trio, I added four of the wisest men who ever lived—Socrates, Jesus of Nazareth, Confucius and Voltaire, each of whom had a different insight into the human soul.

For further spice I put in Sam Johnson, the world's greatest conversationalist, and three moderns

—poet Robert Frost, mystery writer Mickey Spillane, and Toots Shor, who could settle any arguments that might arise over Babe Ruth's batting records and similar high-level quarrels.

But no group is altogether congenial without some singers. So I tossed in three that entertained millions—John McCormack, Enrico Caruso and AJ Jolson.

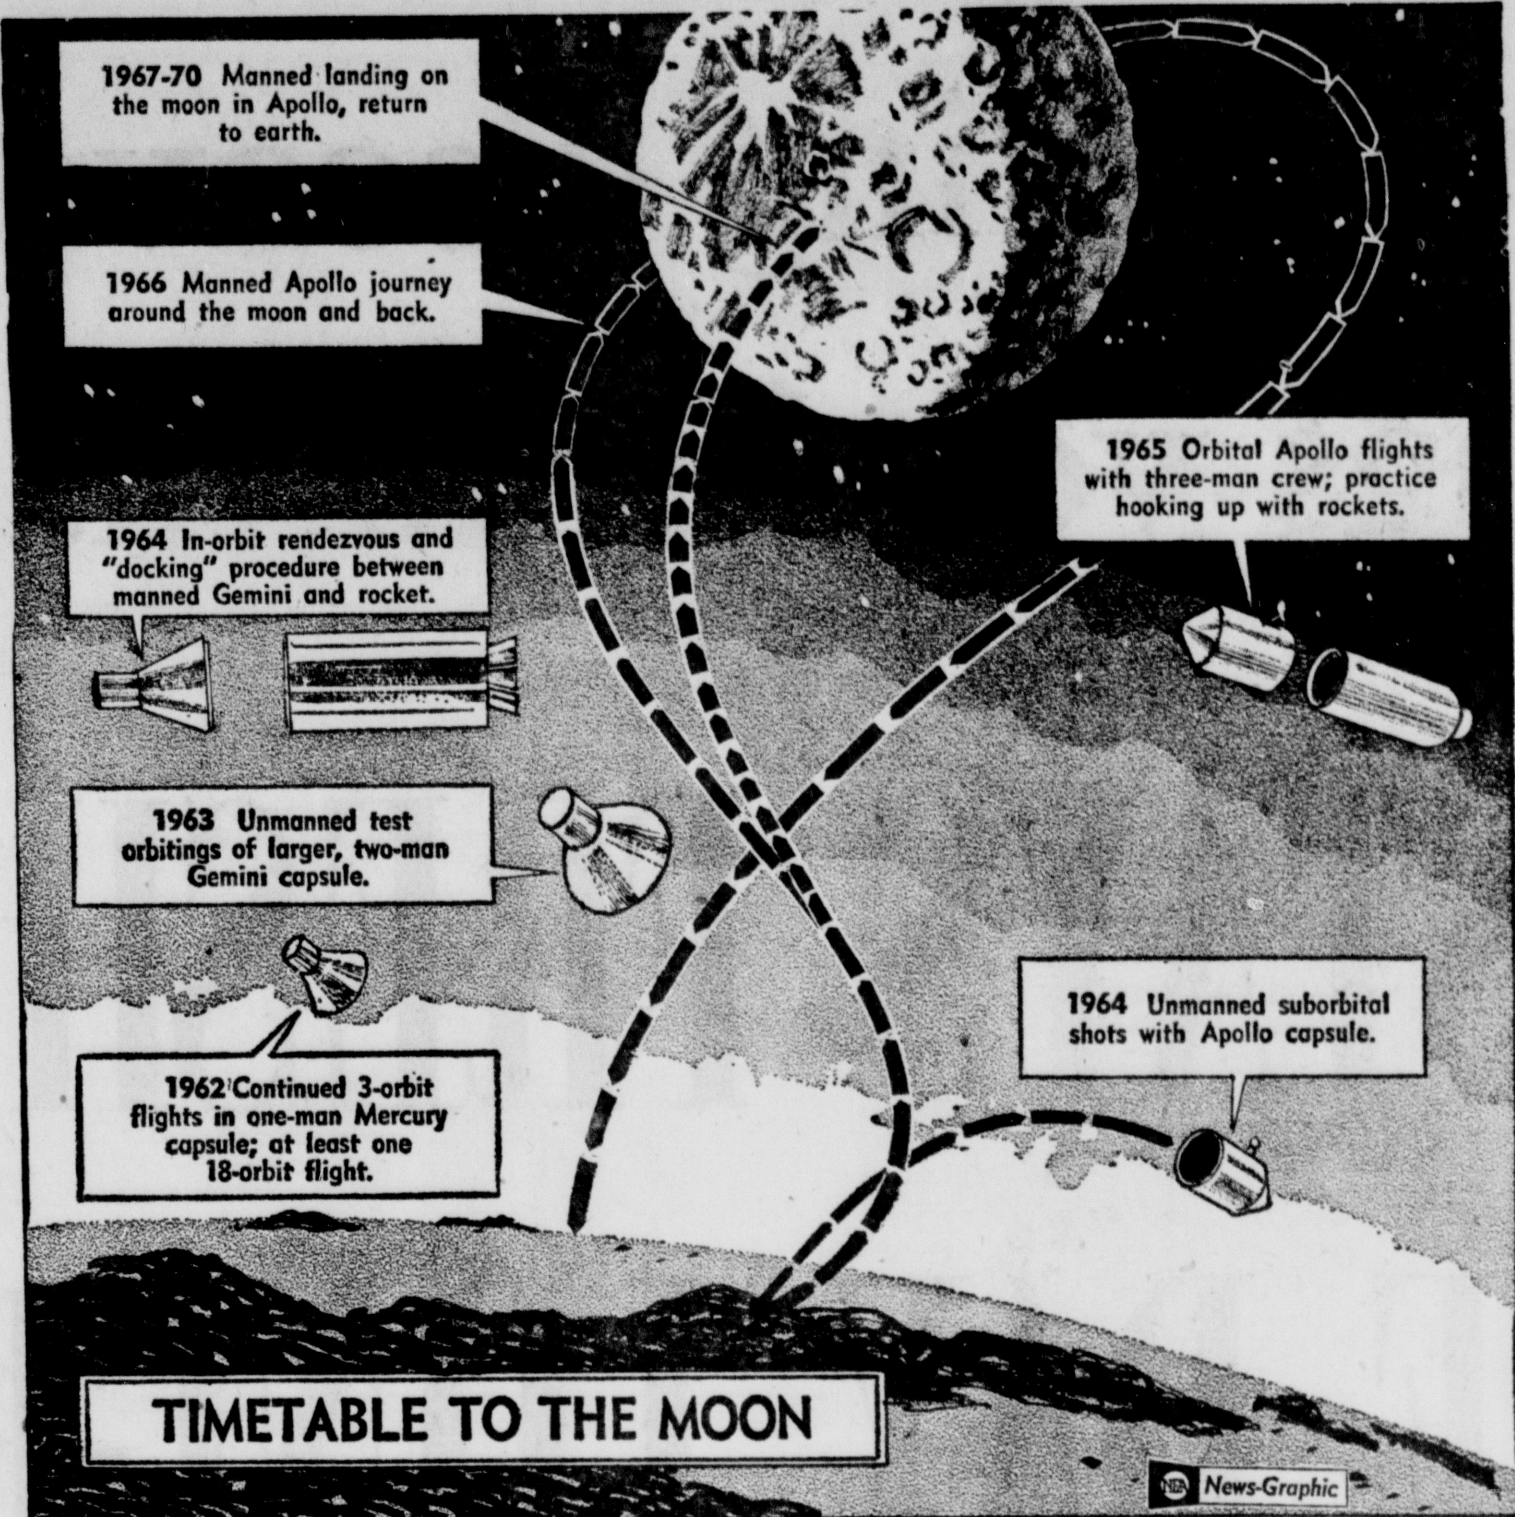

Well, instead of five or ten, I wound up with a list of 19—and I still had left off a ragtime piano player, which you really need at any good informal get-together.

Miss Blanke Speaker At Optimist Club

Miss Marilyn Blanke, occupational therapist, and newest member of the staff at the Crippled Children's Center, was the speaker at Optimist Club Tuesday noon at Bothwell Hotel.

Miss Blanke told of her work as an occupational therapist and stated that she had been at the Center at Springfield, which had all the money it needed to operate but did not have the community behind it, and thus closed up. Then she worked at the one at Joplin, and here, again, the community was not behind the Center, and it was not very successful. But in Sedalia, she pointed out, smaller than the other two cities, the Crippled Children's Center has become outstanding because the people are behind it. She said that she had known for a long time about the Center at Sedalia, but it was in February a year ago that she met J. D. Walker, director of the Center here, at a meeting in St. Louis and he said they were looking for an occupational therapist. Marilyn was ready to make a change in jobs and so came here.

The speaker was introduced by Harold Barrick, program chairman, who said the Crippled Children's Center needed between $38,000 and $39,000 a year to operate, which is in addition to the rent which is free and the facilities that are loaned by the government. Barrick explained that was why they had the door to door drive for funds but that a new year started April 1, and they would much rather have people contribute of their own free will through the year than to have to have a drive, but there would

TOMORROW THE MOON—With the successful orbiting of John Glenn, the U.S. space program shifts into a higher gear in a bid to land the first men on the moon no later than 1970. News-Graphic sketches the major milestones that must be passed on this decade-long journey. After Mercury and the orbiting of a two-man Gemini capsule, the most important step will be perfecting the rendezvous and hook-up in space between a capsule and a rocket put into orbit by itself. Until the large Saturn and Nova rockets are ready, a direct flight from earth to moon is impractical. Thus the necessary boost must be picked up in orbit. Weight of the Mercury capsule, about 1½ tons; the Apollo moon ship: 75 tons. Cost of Mercury to date: $400 million; cost of reaching the moon: $20 billion-plus

Horace Mann PTA Elects Officers

Mrs. J. L. Summers, president, called the meeting of Horace Mann PTA to order Thursday by welcoming the large afternoon crowd.

Mrs. Ira White, for her devotion, sang the beautiful "Holy City" accompanied by Mrs. William Hurt.

Pete Clow announced that the Twin Forks District of Boy Scouts had approved Horace Mann's scouting program and presented the charters to Mrs. Summers in the absence of Lacey Belt.

The annual election of officers for PTA was held with the following new officers: Mrs. Morris Sagaloff, president; Mrs. Jacques Cowherd, first vice-president; Mrs. Paul Day, second vice-president; Mrs. Ira White, third vice-president; Mrs. Bob Goldsmith, secretary; and Miss Mary Beth Kesterson, treasurer.

A. L. Wilson counted room attendance with awards going to Miss Sarah Phillips and Mrs. Forrest Drake.

Clyde Tibling was introduced as substitute teacher for H. N. Branson.

Mrs. Pearl Stuart introduced the program, part of which was under the direction of Miss June DeWitt and part presented by Mrs. John Zulauf. Miss DeWitt's third graders sang "The Tailor and Mouse," "I Saw a Ship," "Yankee Doodle," "Deedie Deedle Dum Dum," "Swanee River," and "Our Country 'Tis of Thee."

Mrs. Zulauf's pupils presented a most unusual program of verse choirs. During the music and poems two little electricians ran a projector showing original drawings of kite and wind scenes and writings by the students. While holding and waving kites and blowing windmills the children whistled "I Am the Wind."

Following the singing of "I Am the Wind" several presented readings about the March wind. A panel then presented "Do You Know What Wind Is?" With lots of spirit the students then gave three poems, "The March Wind," "The Wind" and "The Owl and the Pussycat."

Highlighting the afternoon was Miss Eva Nielsen, exchange student from Norway. Mrs. Pearl Stuart introduced Mrs. Jack Cunningham, who in turn, introduced Miss Nielsen dressed in her beautiful native handmade dress. Miss Nielsen gave an informative talk on Norway. Of 2,225 exchange students in the United States, 130 are from Norway. The beauty of the country was certainly caught in her slides shown by Donald Donath.

Mrs. Ruth Wise and Mrs. Ruth Henderson presented a talk on "What One Should Know When Buying New Furniture."

New baking discovery brings you bread that STAYS FRESH ONE DAY LONGER

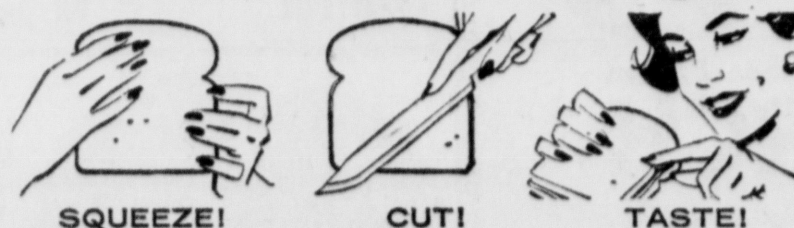

*Introducing New VERV® FRESH HOLSUM
... made with the patented nutrient ingredient VERV®*

What is VERV? It's the most beneficial bread improvement in years—a patented, approved ingredient made from natural food elements.

VERV makes new VERV-FRESH Holsum Bread more tender when you buy it. And thanks to VERV, this new kind of bread stays fresh an average of one day longer! Your family will enjoy the distinctive "Happy Flavor" of new Holsum—lighter, brighter, more satisfying—right down to the last slice.

Buy new VERV-FRESH Holsum bread—the freshest thing that ever happened in bread! Enjoy fresher taste—with less waste!

LOOK! You can be the judge!

Compare new VERV-FRESH Holsum with any other bread—when purchased, then after 3 or 4 days. Squeeze! Cut! Taste! See for yourself if the new Holsum isn't more tender, fresher by any test—right down to the last slice. You will be delighted to find that you can serve this new Holsum "table fresh" or "toaster fresh" a full day longer than ordinary bread.

And here's consumer research that proved what your senses tell you: NEW VERV-FRESH HOLSUM STAYS FRESH ONE DAY LONGER!

In a survey by an independent research organization, a panel of homemakers was asked to compare Holsum Bread baked with VERV and bread baked without VERV. Each woman was asked to use and store each loaf in her normal way, judging freshness after every 24 hours until the bread was used up or until the remaining slices were not considered fresh enough to serve.

When reports were analyzed these facts stood out: a big majority of the women said Holsum with VERV stayed edibly fresh longer; and their answers to the question "How much longer?" showed that the Holsum Bread with VERV stayed edibly fresh an average of one day longer.

NEW VERV® FRESH Holsum

VERV is a patented nutrient ingredient U.S. Patent Nos. 2,733,252; 2,744,825; 2,744,826; 2,789,552

Moscow Elite Paying High Prices at Private Market

MOSCOW (AP)—A winter day's market in the food-short Soviet capital shows how a small impression on Western visitors' survival of free enterprise is a who compare it with supermark.

There, in a sprawling series of European government-built sheds, peasants charge eager city dwellers what ever the traffic will bear for privately raised produce.

The skilled worker who gets 80 rubles—$88.88—a month can seldom afford to splurge at the private market. A large percentage of the shoppers arrive in some of Moscow's 23,000 private cars, belonging to the elite of Moscow's seven million inhabitants.

This is the biggest and best peasants offered cuts of a moderately attractive side of beef. The price: 1 1/2 rubles—$1.66—a pound.

The butchering was done with a blunt hatchet that splintered bones without the meat.

In the fresh vegetables pavilion, a few smallish cucumbers were available at half a ruble—55 cents.

"At these prices we will be as rich as American millionaires," an open-faced peasant woman quipped to a Westerner.

Smallish apples were offered at 1 1/2 rubles—$1.67—a pound and pears at 2 1/2 rubles—$3.88. There was an assortment of nuts and dried fruits.

The milk and dairy products section had no fresh milk. Large quantities of cottage cheese and honey were poured into customers' own containers.

In a special building, a long queue waited for potatoes, scarce since the winter, at 25 kopecks—28 cents—a pound. When available in state shops these are sold at 10 kopecks.

Firing Range Date Saturday

The 38th Administration Company, a Sedalia Army National Guard unit, will leave the armory at 8 a. m. Saturday for Camp Clark near Nevada, Mo. The unit, along with the 38th Quartermaster Company, Marshall, will hold its annual weekend firing Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning.

This training period is held annually and the unit fires the M-1 rifle for familiarization and record. Firing will also be conducted with the 45 caliber pistol. Classes on marksmanship are held during night training periods in the armory and then put to use on the firing line.

Saturday evening the unit will be given a demonstration on the 42 rocket launcher. The demonstration will be conducted by 2nd Lt. Bobby J. Lane and Cpl. Robert Sublett. After the demonstration the unit will practice fire the weapon.

The unit commanded by Capt. James C. Braden will travel by

Death or Democracy

Future of Colombia Lies In Outcome of Elections

SPOTLIGHT
BY JAMES C. DEWEY
BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—This is a nation where politics often has led to the grave. Whether death or democracy will rule its future is likely to be determined in elections this year.

The first of these elections comes Monday, when Colombians will elect a new Congress. In May a new president is to be chosen.

Colombia, adjoining Panama at the northwest corner of South America, ranks as one of the best U.S. friends in Latin America. President Kennedy was here in December. Though largely undeveloped, Colombia is the world's No. 2 coffee producer and has gold and oil resources.

The saddest chapter in its history is the undeclared civil war estimated to have taken 200,000 lives in the decade before it died down only four years ago. Much of the fighting stemmed from political differences. As the election for Congress approached, gunfire cracked with increased frequency in the Andes Mountains. In a month, 20 soldiers fell dead in ambushes laid to political brigands.

Officials charge that some groups seek to sabotage the election and disrupt the national front coalition government that brought a semblance of peace after the bloody decade of 1948-58.

Supporters of Colombia's coalition political system fear that success of these factions would mean a return to bloodshed and unstable government in a nation that roundly supports the United States in its efforts to stymie Fidel Castro's Cuba.

It is coalition government rather than Castroism or communism that appears to be at stake in Monday's voting for all 184 seats in the House of Representatives and all 98 in the Senate. A Conservative president is to be chosen in May to succeed Alberto Lleras Camargo, a Liberal.

Under Colombia's coalition system, the only two political parties, Conservatives and Liberals, alternate the presidency for four-year terms. The Cabinet and other government offices are evenly divided between them and the Congress is set up so neither party has a majority.

The balloting, in which 5,870,000 of the nation's 14-million population can vote, can tell whether the coalition system will endure the charges of its opponents. They contend the coalition has frozen the status quo at a time when there is desperate need for social reform. However, programs of the present government have won the endorsement of the U.S. All-ance for Progress program for Latin America. Splinter Liberal groups and distrust among Conservatives have put a heavy strain on the coalition system.

In between are those who seek to preserve the coalition that brought the downfall of Dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla in 1957, repaired a wobbly economy and restored democratic government.

James C. Dewey, in charge of AP operations in Colombia, observed his 39th birthday last Monday with ears cocked for troubles in Colombia's election campaign. He joined the Associated Press in Detroit in 1953. He is a native of Stockton, Calif.

Brace for Foreign Aid Hassle

EDITOR'S NOTE — Spectacular boondoggle or democracy's salvation? The arguments soon will echo once more in the halls of Congress as legislators debate the administration's request for $5 billion in foreign aid. In advance of this year's hassle, a seasoned Washington observer puts the big picture in perspective.

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeature Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In December 1947 Congress was considering a fantastic new scheme: Saving the world by an immense foreign aid program.

Should this country try it? And if it did, should it be for one or four years?

President Harry S. Truman wanted four.

Carl A. Hatch, then a Democratic senator from New Mexico and now a federal judge, showed a real grasp of the political facts of life. Although an administration backer, he said he would settle for a year.

"Once embarked on the program," Hatch said, "no Congress will be willing to turn back on it."

Once again Congress is considering foreign aid—and once again it is proving how correct Hatch's judgment was.

There will be the customary squabbling over how much money is enough, the customary recriminations and the customary compromises.

But even its severest critics know that foreign aid is here to stay with no Congress willing to turn its back on it.

It's here to stay, even though more than $90 billion have been poured into it, even though threats of scandal and waste frequently swirl about it, even though its supporters sometimes confess they have misgivings about it.

It's here to stay because Americans are worried about communism, because we can't think of a better way to combat it, because it's easier to begin a government program than it is to end it, because, whatever its faults, leaders of both parties feel foreign aid has enough real merit that they are willing to fight for it.

Technically foreign aid began on March 17, 1947, when Truman asked for—and eventually got—$400 million in military aid for Greece and Turkey. But its birth date is usually listed as June 5, 1947.

That's when Gen. George C. Marshall in his now famous Harvard speech said that the riddled economy of Europe had to be rebuilt, and that this nation should help plan and pay for its restoration.

"Our policy is not directed against any country or doctrine," Marshall said, "but against hunger, poverty, desperation and chaos."

After Russia denounced the scheme as another capitalistic plot, the aid program quickly took on an anti-Communist hue. Indeed, its chief selling point to Congress has been that this is the best and the cheapest way to fight communism.

Begun as a program to revive industrialized Europe, it quickly spread to underdeveloped or otherwise needy nations. Soon aid flowed to Asia, to South America, to Africa.

Of the world's 120 or so independent nations, almost all those outside the iron curtain, and a few behind it, have received aid in some form.

A Library of Congress survey shows that between July 1, 1945, and June 30, 1961, 22 countries received more than a billion dollars each in grants or loans.

The leaders:

France — $9,431,400,000.
United Kingdom — $8,685,600,000.

Italy — $5,641,900,000.

Korea — $5,029,600,000.

West Germany — $4,997,100,000.

Formosa — $4,161,100,000.

Japan — $3,574,000,000.

The list ranges on down to such comparatively modest sums as $1,900,000 for Togo and $1,000,000 for Sierra Leone.

Of all the aid proposals, the Marshall Plan was by far the most successful.

Dr. William Drees, former Dutch prime minister, has said, "It has rarely occurred in history that an entirely new experiment in the way of international relations has enjoyed such demonstrable success as the Marshall Plan. It is a symbol of what the effect of real cooperation can be for peaceful purposes in the world."

A British official put it simply. "One of the most generous, magnanimous acts in history."

In this country, which footed the bills, comments were less ecstatic.

One complaint is not that the Marshall Plan failed, but rather that it succeeded too well.

We have given European nations so much help, this argument goes, and they have made such a splendid recovery, that now, by combining into a common market, they will lick us at our own game in world trade.

Evaluations have varied greatly. Generally the verdict has depended on how one felt about it before starting to make the judgment.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., a rabid foe, concluded, "Our foreign aid program has been an abysmal failure."

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn.,

a rabid friend, took soundings and found, "Mutual security is not an idle phrase—it is not a foreign giveaway. It is, I assure you, life and death to us all, and we must continue to support it and fight for it against those who could cut it to ribbons."

You take your choice. Either way you still pay your money, which has now mounted to $500 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The man who hopes, for, but doesn't promise, miracles is Fowler Hamilton, foreign aid administrator, a well-to-do, 50-year-old lawyer from New York City.

Hamilton isn't pessimistic about this Nation's race with the Communists for the affections of those in backward nations.

"I think we have the edge," he said, "not only because of our wealth but because of our powers of organization."

Even after the thorny answers of which country gets what amount of money have been arrived at, many a haunting question persists:

1. Pouring money into a country stabilizes its government. Since the Communists move in during unsettled times, that's one of the reasons for pouring the money. But this steady bad governments as effectively as it does good ones.

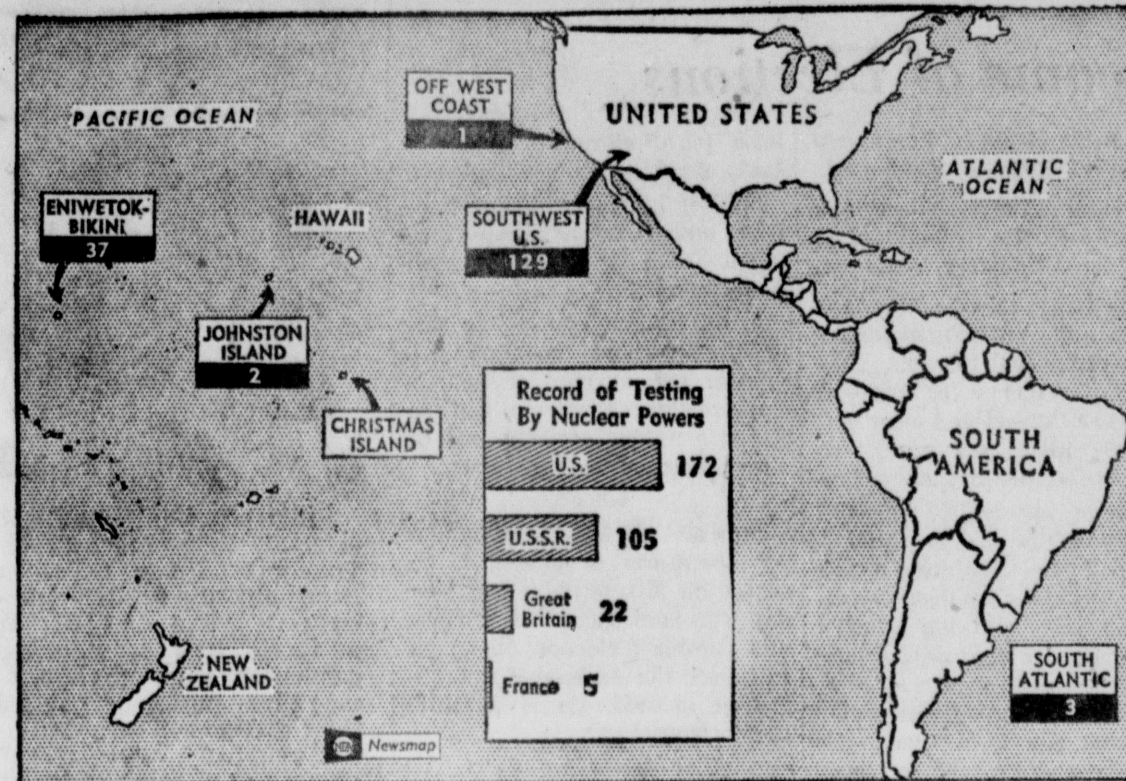

The uneasy thought persists that some dictators may be in business only because they have been propped up with U.S. aid.

2. There's no point in helping the rich get richer and the poor poorer. The United States is anxious for land and tax reforms, especially in Latin America.

But as Gen. Robert Cutler of the Inter-American Development Bank told Congress: "It is going to take years for Latin America to reform itself. It is a place that has existed for four or five hundred years on this level. No, it's going to take a long time."

3. Congress frets over what all this may do to U.S. economy. Officials of the Agency for International Development, which administers the program, say that as a nation develops its trade increases, and that this country will get its share.

That may be true, but it frightens a congressman from, say, an area dependent on textiles where business is bad, to learn that this government has helped another nation build a competitive mill.

NUCLEAR TEST RECORD—Since the United States fired off the world's first atomic device in July, 1945, at Alamogordo, N.M., at least 304 more have been exploded throughout the world. The United States has fired 172 announced test shots, Russia 105, Britain 22 and France 5. The United States is ready to resume nuclear testing in April on British-owned Christmas Island as a result of Russia's breaking a three-year test moratorium. The largest announced nuclear test by the United States was a 15-megaton device fired as part of a series at Eniwetok in 1954. Russia recently detonated a 58-megaton bomb at her test site on the Arctic island of Novaya Zemlya, Siberia. A megaton is equal to a million tons of TNT. Other Russian tests have been conducted near the cities of Volgograd and Semipalatinsk. Britain has tested in the southwest United States, Christmas Island, Montebello Islands and in Australia. France has tested in the Sahara.

4. The country's leaders worry it may look worse than it is. AID can run on and on. Last year the about the trade balance as U.S. officials claim that 80 per cent State Department put out a book-dollars and gold slip away, chief of the money is spent in the let in an effort to answer the ly due to the large number of United States and that 600,000 chief complaints and charges. troops supported abroad. Foreign jobs depend on foreign aid money. The replies filled 52 pages. aid aggravates this, even though A discussion of these worries But nowhere was there an attempt to answer the granddaddy is hoped, other countries will as- question of them all: How long some more of the burden. must this go on? One estimate of how long aid will be given may come as a real shocker. But the best guess seems to be Secretary of the Treasury Doug- that for the next eight years the las Dillon has guessed it may be pressures will be great. Then, it for another 30 years.

Circular 764

"Be Bright—Eat Right" is the title of a new circular No. 764 recently received in our office. Miss Flora Carl, recently retired, and Miss Josephine Flory, extension nutritionists are the authors.

Included in this circular is a good food plan which includes three or more glasses of milk, one or more servings of meat and egg, two fruits—one being citrus or other fruit containing vitamin C, two vegetables—one being dark green or deep yellow, four slices of whole grain or enriched bread or their equivalent in cereal. Eat these foods and then let your figure, your appetite, and your pocketbook, help you decide what other foods you will add.

Wool Carpets

Wool, through the years, has been the standard fiber for carpets. It has the ability to keep its original appearance which manufacturers of other fibers strive to duplicate. This is partly due to its resiliency or "spring back" which is probably greater than that of any other fiber. A warm, alive feel is another of wool's assets.

Wool is more naturally resistant to soil than most fibers although it is not as easy to clean as the acrylic or nylon fibers. Its durability is excellent. Very dense, high quality wool carpets often last through a lifetime of hard wear. One problem which formerly existed, moth damage, has been eliminated by a new permanent mothproof finishes now being given to wool.

The cost of wool is high and it pays to buy good quality when you do choose wool. If you want to spend less consider another fiber rather than a low cost wool with little pile.

Wool for carpets is not produced in the United States. Our domestic wool is too fine to withstand the shock of footsteps over a period of years. Carpet wool is imported from the Middle East, South America, and North Africa where the fleece of sheep is coarse, wiry, and strong.

Blends

Many carpets contain a mixture or "blend" of two or more fibers. Manufacturers blend fibers to give the carpet the best features of each fiber they choose. Check the label to find the percentage of each fiber. A fiber should be used in an amount of at least 20 per cent to give its properties to the carpet and 50 per cent is even better.

When you know the advantages of each fiber, it is easy to see why the manufacturer uses it in a blend. For example, rayon and acetate are used primarily for the lower cost they give to a carpet. Wool is used for its resiliency, soil resistance, durability, and texture, or "feel." Pure acrylics are used in blends for their ease of cleaning, resiliency, and texture. Modified acrylics are often added for flame resistance. Nylon is blended mainly for its strength and durability. An addition of 30 per cent nylon adds greatly to the durability of a carpet. Carpets of 70 per cent wool and 30 per cent nylon are especially popular for their texture, resiliency, and long life.

Construction

Manufacturers are now using three methods of construction for carpets: weaving, tufting, and knitting. They select the one best suited to the particular carpet they're making, and it makes no practical difference to you which one has been used in your carpet.

Weaving. This is the oldest type of construction. In the past, carpet buyers were greatly concerned with choosing a weave and you may remember hearing the different types discussed. Weave types are Wilton, Axminster, Velvet and Chenille.

Tufting. Tufted carpets originated in the early 1950's and already account for more than half of all the carpets made. Tufting is faster and usually less expensive than weaving. It simply means that the pile yarns are pulled, not woven, through a jute backing. Some manufacturers make a "double back" construction. This means that scrim (a loosely woven fabric) is put on over the latex. It helps eliminate shrinking or stretching.

Knitting. Knitting is the newest type of carpet construction and is still used only in limited amounts. Like tufting, it is a fast process. Another advantage is that all the pile yarns stay on the surface which gives you the best possible use of the fiber from the standpoint of wear.

Ends Training Course

Army Pvt. Howard H. Kalthoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Kalthoff, LaMonte, completed two months of advanced individual training at The Air Defense Training Center, Fort Bliss, Tex., March 12.

Kalthoff was trained in the duties and responsibilities of a radar crewman.

He entered the Army last October and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood.

The 23-year-old soldier attended LaMonte High School.

Spring Lamb, Fryers Easy On Budgets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Take a tip from the calendar and put a spring in your step—and your menus—when touring supermarkets this weekend.

Spring lambs and spring fryers are attractive buys in many shops and this is also the season for dairy foods, eggs and pork products.

With fryers, poultry counters also feature broilers, stewing hens and turkeys. Freezer owners will be wise to buy and store turkeys in light of growing evidence that recent low prices won't last.

Pork buys include the traditional spring hams, plus roasts, chops and bacon.

At beef trays, chuck cuts seem to be the most generally attractive.

Lenten meal planners will again find good main course possibilities at fish and seafood departments.

In the Northeast, best buys include clams, oysters, halibut and smelt.

In the Southeast, look for mullet, Spanish mackerel, whiting and sea trout.

Midwesterners will find ample supplies of lake herring, clams, halibut, yellow perch, salmon and smelt.

In the Southwest, features include catfish, red snapper, crab meat, whiting and shrimp.

Westerners can look to rockfish, salmon, spiny lobsters, halibut and dungeness crabs.

Potatoes are still a good buy and carrots, mixed greens, lettuce, onions, peppers and tomatoes are generally featured.

Among fruits, the best buys are still apples, avocados, grapefruit, lemons and oranges.

A luncheon was served at the noon hour.

Mrs. Uel Chasteen, president, presided. Mrs. Rose Waltz and Mrs. H. T. Simpson gave the project lesson "Are You a Sharp Shopper?"
